P R E F A C E

This history comprises two parts.

PART ONE is a history of the Tone family beginning with Jean Tone of Tartas in the Province of Gascony, France, about the year 1390, the earliest occurrence of the Tone name in available historical records. It comprises the European line only and the first ten generations have been compiled by Dr. Gustave Anjou, an American genealogist of note. It is most fully and carefully documented and referenced. Great difficulty always exists in obtaining and compiling very early authentic family records from foreign countries. In the record here given in PART ONE, several generations were checked by Dr.

Frank Jerome Tone from records other than those cited by Anjou and no errors were found. Dr. Tone also used these same chapters as compiled by Dr. Anjou in his 1944 edition of the "History of the Tone Family". Dr. Tone claimed he was a descendant of John Tone, born in Dublin, 1719 and emigrating to South Amboy, N. J., in 1740. I am quite certain that these two families are related but since I have not, with absolute certainty, been able to locate the exact point of departure, I am not repeating any of Dr. Tone's history in this history. In any event, it is believed that the credibility and accuracy of Section I., as compiled by Dr. Anjou, need not be questioned.

PART TWO is a history by me of JOHN FREDERIC TONE, probably born in Hesse or Hesse-Cassel Germany, 1750, a Hessian soldier, who was sent from his native Germany to the United States to fight against the Americans in the Revolutionary War. He deserted for a better life and joined the American forces. He was severely wounded in the Battle of Kingsbridge and the Battle of Yorktown, received his honorable American discharge and after the war settled and reared his family in Plainfield, New Hampshire. He later served honorably as a soldier in the War of 1812.

This PART TWO is a history, and I have documented each generation with absolute certainty, of John Frederic Tone, his children and grandchildren descending to this date.

In compiling a genealogy record, a historian quickly learns that with one more item of correspondence or one more long distance telephone call the record will be a bit more complete. But as each day concludes, this record must conclude. Perhaps one day in the future, God willing, I will be able to learn, with absolute certainty, the ancestors of John Frederic Tone. Nevertheless, this history of John Frederick Tone and his descendants, as written by me in PART TWO is accurate.

The arrangement used in PART TWO is similar to that very commonly used by historians and therefore needs little explanation. The records are arranged according to generation, John Frederic Tone being the first generation, his children the second, his grandchildren the third, and so on. All descendants are numbered consecutively, children of John Frederick Tone being numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, etc. Each person receives a number when his name first appears as a member of his father or mother's family, and the same number is placed in front of his name in parenthesis, where it recurs as the head of a family in the succeeding generation. Thus, "1" indicates this person is a member of his father or mother's family; "(1)" indicates that this person is the head of his own family and his children are numbered consecutively, without parentheses. A star "*" indicates that this person has issue or children where this person appears later as head of a family. Thus, lines of descent and ascent may be easily traced, both forward and backward, through the entire record.

Abbreviations and Explanations:

b.	born	m.	married
b.c.	born about	m2.	second marriage, etc.
bapt.	baptized	div.	divorced
educ.	educated	d.	died
grad.	graduated	bur.	buried
o.	occupation	unk.	unknown
com.	comment	---	unknown
unm.	unmarried	res.	residence

A star preceding a name indicates that it is to appear as head of a family in the next generation and the person has issue or children.

A number in parentheses placed before the name of a head of a family refers to that person's name in the preceding generation as a member of his father or mother's family.

I was sent many old as well as recent photographs, both color and black and white, of family members. After discussing the matter with the publisher I had to decide to omit all pictures as the majority of them were of such poor quality that their presence would mean little or nothing to the enjoyment of this book

I sincerely take this opportunity to gratefully acknowledge those who have rendered me most valuable aid.

In conclusion, I have discovered that one of the most striking characteristics of a TONE is his self dependence. Usually born to no furtune, he knows from his earliest years that he has nothing but his own mental and bodily exertions to rely on in this great struggle of existence. This self dependence produces a remarkable quickness and versatility of talent. A TONE uses his wit for all purposes, and is seldom at a loss. At his first outset in life the world lies before him, like the wilderness of his own country, a trackless waste through which he must cut his own path; but what would be a region of doubt and despondency to another mind appears to him a land of promise, a land of glorious challenge tinted with golden hope.

CHAPTER I

The following authors on nomenclature refer to the TONE name:

FERGUSON, on page 129 intimates that the name is French: Donne, Donay, Donné, Tonne, Tunne, Tiné; in English: Ton, perhaps from thunder.

WEEKLY refers to it as Toon, Ton, 'later Town.'

BARBER claims it is derived from Thuin, local in Belgium, Tuin in Holland, Thun in Denmark, Tonn, Tune, Tuin, Ton, Tone, Toni in France, and Toon in Holland.

Dictionaries give us Ton, Tunne, Tun, in French Ton, Spanish Tono, Greek Tonos, and Latin Tonus.

RIESTAP refers to Thun of Mecklenburg, Pomerania and Silesia. Thun de Hohenstein of Tyrol, Bohemia. Thune de Puls in Livonia. du Thon of Normandy, Thon of Frenche Comtė, Thon of Dittmar, Bavaria, De Thon of Luxembourg, Thone of Liege, and Toni, Lord Toni of England 1341.

JOYCE believes that Ton, Toin refers to bottom lands.

BARDSLEY refers to de la Tune of Sussex 1273, and Toone of Leicestershire 1602.

William de la Toune occurs in Shropshire, England during the reign of Edward I. (Rotul Hundred). John de la Toune was Lord of Doune, in Shropshire, in 1316. (Palgrave's Parliamentary Writs). Ralph de la Thun held land in Woodchurch, Kent, of the King in capite, and died before 1260 "without heir of his body." (Archaelogia Cantiana). Thomas de Toune of Throwley, was one of the constables of the Hundred of Faversham during the great Kentish rebellion of 1380. (Ibid.). Hamone de la Dune witnessed one of the charters, of Cumbwell Priory, Kent., 1284. William de la Doune, one of the Lords of Fulbourn in Cambridgeshire, a Justice of the Oyer and Terminer for Essex and Herts in 1310, was summoned from the Hundred of Uttlesford and Freshwell in Essex for service against the Scots in 1322. (Palgrave's Parliamentary Writs).

One family of Leicestershire, residing at Belton and Osguthorpe, that wrote the name Toone, later on of London, descended from the Toones of Burton on Trent, Staffordshire, and we find from the Battle of Abbey Roll, as well as Staffordshire records that the original name of this family was de Toeni, "a great Norman family, the head of which for at least two generations before the invasion of England had held the high position of Standard-bearer of the Dukes of Normandy...", claimed to be of Scandinavian origin, as "Roger de Toeni, the second who bore that surname, is stated by William of Jumieges (Hist. Norm. vii. 3) to have been 'de stirpe Malahulciii qui Rollonis Ducis patruus fuit et cum eo Francos atterens Normanniam fortier adquisierat.' (i.e. paternal uncle)."

The Staffordshire chronicler gives a pedigree from one Fornjot, King of Finland (from the Icel. Sagas, and the connexion down to William the Conquerer. The name is alleged to be taken from the village of Tosny, or Toeni, Dept. l'Eure, and is said to have been written Toenium, Thony, Tosny, and Toni.

"Of the first of the family, Ralph de Toeni we know very little, except that about 1020 Richard II. Duke of Normandy placed him and his son Roger de Toeni (Rodolphus Toennensis & Rogerius filius ejesdem) or Raoul de Theeinini in the printed edition of Chron. of St. Denis, in charge of the castle of Tillieres..." Staffordshire Coll. N.S. 1 in which a great deal of material is referred to.

The Duchess of Cleveland, in her The Battle Abbey roll, refers to the Dives Roll, in chich six of the neme occur, viz. Berenger de Toeni, Guillaume de Toeni, Ibert de Toeni, Juhel de Toeni, Raoul de Toeni, Robert de Toeni (written Touny in the Holinshead roll).

The de Toenis were roy'l, descended from an uncle of Rollo', and one of the greatest houses in Normandy, Ralph de Toeni being among Duke William's chief barons, a great landowner in the Domesday book, with principal estates in Norfolk, though picking Flamstead in Hertfordshire as his chief residence...He died in 1102, and was buried with his ancestors in his Norman Abbey of Conches..." Battle Abbey roll, III.171.

A Pedigree of De Toeni is given in the Staffordshire Collections, N.S.i down to one Robert de Toeni, who died in 1310 without issue, when the line became extinct.

The Toone family, of Belton, Leicestershire, claim descent from this Staffordshire family, of Burton on Trent, Co. Staff., and Nichols gives the line in his History of Leicestershire, from one William Toone of Osguthorpe, "descended from the Toones of Burton on Trent," father of Robert and William. The latter's grandson, Robert Toone was buried in St. Aldermary, London 1665. A sister, Anne, married Thomas Darling, and another sister, Alice married Thomas Sanders, of Derby. This branch resided in London, St. James Clerkenwell and St. Dionis Backchurch parishes, and were clothworkers. The family became extinct prior to 1700.

FIRST GENERATION

A.D. 1390

A French family by the name of Tone occurs in Bavai in Cambrai in 1409, when Jean Tone married Marie Daniel by contract:

> "KNOW ALL MEN BY THIS PRESENT, that at our court of Valenciennes by us personally established, appeared in person Jean Tone, residing at Bavay, grandson of the deceased Jean Tone, resident of Tartas, party of the first part; and Amedee Daniel, of Pas de Calais, also esquire, and mademoiselle Amelie de Vert, and Philippa, 'sister of Philip Daniel,' their eldest daughter, said Amelie and Philippa having granted said Amedee Daniel full authorization, party of the second part; for themselves and their heirs granting all their real and personal properties, now and to come, as well as all their legal rights, acknowledging that the said marriage between said Jean Tone and Philippa Daniel is with their full approval, without any reservation, and that a marriage may be performed in accordance with the following promises. 'Pro primo, the said Jean Tone takes the said Philippa Daniel for his wedded wife, and the said mademoiselle takes the said Jean Tone for her wedded husband, the marriage to take place before the St. Church. 'Item, on receipt of said sum, Jean Tone assigns all his property, now and to come, and couple, the said Amedee Daniel has granted a dowry to the said Philippa, his daughter, in the sum of three hundred accus of sixty sous each, in lieu of all claims by the said mademoiselle on his estate; said sum to be paid at the hour of solemnization of the said marriage. 'Item, on receipt of said sum Jean Tone assigns all his property, now and to come, and especially his mansion at Bavay with appurtenances."

THE TONE FAMILY CAME, ORIGINALLY FROM TARTAS, WHERE THE NAME WAS WRITTEN DuTHON, WITH ARMORIAL BEARINGS: "AZUR THREE CROSSES OR".

Jean and Guillaume Tone, brothers, of Bavai, admit a debt to Amedee Daniel. - Ib. fonds des div. actes, layette de 1419.

Amedee Daniel married in 1368 from whom descended in the fourth generation Briand Daniel, younger son of said house, who settled at Croiset, Pas de Calais, where he married and became founder of a family, connected with the most noble families of Normandy. Armorial gen. reg. de la Noblesse.

Jean Tone died prior to 1427, as in that year his widow, Philippa, made her testament:

> "In the name of God, Amen. We Gabriel de Cusso...judge...testify that before Armandi Mareschalci, notary, Philippa Daniel, wife of Johannes Tone, in possession of full mind and memory, has made her testament, recommending first of all her soul to the Creator, and instituting her sons, Johannes and Philip her universal legatees and heirs, bequeathing alimony to the poor, an annuity to Joh. Calmi, the curate of St. Bonito, and devising the residue of her estate to her son, Johannis, residuary legatee, appointing as her executors her sons Philip and Johannes and her sister Maria." -Test. SS. iii.189(P).

The Daniel family was of Desvres, which Philip Daniel, son of Amedee, inherited. He married Agneta de Laygnee, and had a son Andrea. An agreement was > "made December 10, 1479 at Bilbao, Province Viscaya, Biscay, Spain, between Monsieur Bertrand Senor de Laygne Chevalier, Monsieur Raymond Luchonis, prior of Desvres, and Senor Barbazon de Binos, of Pampiona, or Pamplena in the Province of Navarre, by special order and request of the noble and illustrious Senor Monsieur Philippo Daniel, son of the deceased Amedee Daniel, of the other part, in the manner and form following, and to the perpetual peace of the said persons and their successors. 'Item, for various causes here given said M. Philipp quitclaims and remits all his rights in the estate of the said Count de Bilbao. 'Item, for the perpetuation of peace, matrimony has been agreed upon between Agneta, daughter of the said Ludovico, Count de Bilbao, and the said Philippo, son of the said Philippa Daniel, widow of the said Jean Tone, of Bavay."

The Hundred Years' War was over. Louis XI. had been crowned King of France, 1461. The English, whose greatest stronghold in France had been at Rouen, and who had held Pas de Calais in an iron-hand, with the Norman barons as influential adherents, had been driven out of France nearly.

The war against Burgundy was over, and peace was established gradually between former enemies in the north and south of France, and the northern parts of Spain and Arragon; alliances were closed between families, and the agreement here referred to would indicate that the Daniel family had taken active part in the wars of this period.

The large number of "étrangers, Aragonnes, Espagnols et Anglois" who came to the duchy of Guinne, "en notre royame contre nos inhibitions" was so great that Louis XII. finally had to issue an order to have them "transporte de la Bastide en la ville de St. Best."

A daughter of Philip Daniel, Celeste, married Jean Caldwell May 8, 1495, which name will be referred to further on.

The son, Andree Daniel, who was born in 1483 of St. Omer in 1489, married in 1517, "noble damoiselle Blanche Durie, daughter of Jean Durie and Louise-Marie, daughter of Jean Maurice Le Duchat. Their son, Brian Daniel, was heir of his father, Andree Daniel in 1542, and of his mother, Blanche Durie in 1547.

Brian Daniel, of Draize, married Margaret Humbert, and is referred to in his father in law's will, 1579.....

"to my poor son, Jean Daniel, of Frauenberg in Germany and his wife Marguerite Martin, with their new born son Henry Daniel, if he shakes off his prejudices and return to our mountains "s'il sont reviens de ses prejuges et revenons a nos montagnes," 50 livres. "et la maison paternelle en Grand Pre."

Andree Daniel, younger son of Antoine Daniel, bapt. 11 marz 1627, married Suzanne Martin, with whom he had 12 children. A grandson, Jacques Daniel, bt. 1695, Dec. 19, emigrated to Montreal, Canada and married there 1717, Madeleine Barbeau.

Jean (Johannis) Daniel, son of Antoine, bapt. May 6, 1626 in the Church of Notre Dame, married Marguerite Martin, and emigrated to the French colony of Hugenots at Frauenberg, near Marburg, Upper Hessen, where he became a "Gastwirt" (Innkeeper). In his will 1713 referring to his brother Andree's children, of Rethel, France, and their mother, Suzanne Martin; to his son Henri Daniel the inn in Frauenberg; to the six children of Jacob Jacques, "en Ireland, Nanette Farquhar, sa femme: Patric, Jacques, Launcelot, Danton, Jeremie, et David, petit fils de mon dit soeur Jeanne Daniel et Guillaume Jacques, son mari, decedee Ecosse."

Henry Daniel, the son, bapt. at Rethal, 1675, came to Frankenthal, in the Rhine Palatinate and married Magdalena, daughter of "der Landtmann," Jacob Kleist, zu Neustadt 1714, and the family emigrated with the Adams, Kleist and Krichbaums to Berks Co., Va. and Frederick Co., Va.

Philippa Tone, widow of Jean Tone, died in 1430, having disposed of some of the property in 1428, the year after making her will:

"Ego, Philippa, derelicta et in mea constitua propria, postquam vidi et audivi de verbo ad verbum testamentum carissimi viri mei Johanne...fil. Johanns et Philipp...Cameracum (Cambrai)..."

From this it appears that the sons had moved to Cambrai prior to 1430, and later on, 1456, we find an instrument, dated Sept. 7, whereby Louis Bouginville, and formerly of Bavay and Abbeville agrees to pay to the "l'église St. Andrieu," a sum of 40 sols for the soul of the deceased Jean Tone, citizen of Cambrai, during the widowhood of Philippa Daniel, his wife, and their children, Jean, Philip and Marie, the said rent due from various tenements in Abbeville, Titre Orig. 1456 (H 82).

CHAPTER III

T O N E

SECOND GENERATION

A.D. 1410

The eldest son of Jean Tone and Philippa Daniel, Jean Tone, b.c. 1410, had married, in 1429, by contract a cousin of Philippa Daniel, also named Philippa, and daughter of Jean Daniel and Marguerite Dupre, of Cambrai, having the two sons, Jean and Philip named above, their father, Jean Tone, having died prior to 1456.

Jean Tone purchased the manor and land of Chesnoy in 1433:

"Know all men by these letters that I, Guillaume Ault, of the parish of Chesnoy, for myself and as representing Raoul Bremen, has sold to Jean Tone, of Bavay, and to Philippa Daniel, his wife, and to heirs of their bodies, my inheritance as well all the rights of the said Guillaume Ault and Raoul Breman to the lands and manor of Chesney, as acquired from heirs of the deceased Henry Ault, and for a sum of two hundred livres."

Jean Tone sold this land to his brother, Philip Tone, the following year, when he acquired the le Cateau property, in Cambrai, and removed there:

"Witnesseth that I, Jean Tone, of Chesney, have sold to Philip Tone of Bavay, Agneta, his wife, and their heirs, all my interest in the lands and manor of Chesney .11 juine 1434."

On June 12, 1451, Jean Tone, of le Cateau, and Philippa Daniel, his wife, made a donation to their son, Jean Tone:

"Know ye all that our court at Valenciennes, by us personally established, this day appeared Jean Tone, Seigneur of le Cateau, in Cambrai, and madamoiselle Philippa Daniel, his wife, duly authorized, out of their good will and without any compulsion, have granted and conveyed by this letter, as an advance of his inheritance, to their youngest son, Jean Tone, the lands and appurtenances of le Cateau in Cambrai, the mansion, gardens, arable and uncultivated land, twenty calves, ten sheep and five horses, as well as the rents due from their land in Bavay, which the uncle of the said Jean Jr., Philip Tone, is to occupy and enjoy for his natural life, with the usufruct, provided, however, that if the said Philip Tone Sr. should have children, born in wedlock, he and they shall possess the said land of Bavai, for their inheritance in perpetuity. And the said Jean Tone and Jeanne DuFour, his wife, grant to Philip Tone, paternal uncle, in compensation the said lands of Bavay, the lands of Cateau. And after the death of said Jean Tone younger, said inheritance shall revert to his elder brother, Philip Tone".

Jean Tone died in 1515 or before, as in that year his widow, Jeanne DuFour made her will.

THIRD GENERATION

A.D. 1430

Jean Tone, born circa 1430, the youngest son of Jean Tone and Philippa Daniel, his wife, inherited the lands and manor of le Cateau in Cambrai, as well as the rents from the lands of Bavay, when his uncle, Philip Tone, died without issue.

Jean Tone married in 1451, Jeanne Du Four, daughter of Galhard Du Four of St. Omer, Guines, and sister of Bertrand Du Four. The surname occurs first in Archives de l'Abbey de Moissac, in Tarn et Garonne, in 1063. The translation of the Will of Jeanne Du Four Tone follows:

TRANSLATION OF WILL OF JEANNE Du FOUR TONE

"IN THE NAME OF GOD, AMEN. I, Jeanne Du Four, widow of Jean Tone, in his lifetime seigneur of le Cateau, in Cambray, residing upon the manor there, of sound mind, but sick of body, considering that death is certain, but the hour thereof uncertain, and not desiring to die without having disposed of the goods that God has granted unto me, have made my testament in the following manner:

First, having made the sign of the cross, I recommend my soul to God, the glorious Virgin Mary, and all the saints of Paradis, desiring my body to be buried in the local church in the tomb of my ancestors.

Item, I give and bequeath to Jean Tone, my eldest son, Marie Bascom, his wife, and their children, Jean, Marie-Louise, Joseph-Alfred, and Joseph-Pierre, a sum of twenty livres each.

Item, I give and bequeath to Marie-Celine, my daughter, wife of M. Henry Broquin, of Valenciennes, a sum of twenty livres, and with this she is to be satisfied, with no further claim upon my estate.

Item, I give and bequeath to madamoiselle Clementine Tone, my daughter, a sum of twenty livres...to my grandchildren, Francois-George Tone, Rose-Anne Tone, and Maurice Tone, the children of my son, Pierre Tone, of Maubeuve, the sum of twenty livres to each.

Item, I give and bequeath to Joseph Tone, of Chesney, my youngest son, ten livres, with which he is to be satisfied, with no other claim upon my estate.

Item, The residue of my estate, to Jean Tone, esquire, of Baupaume, my eldest son on condition of discharging these bequests.

I hereby annul and revoke all former wills, donations, codicils and desire this to be considered my last testament.

FOURTH GENERATION

A.D. 1452

Jean Tone, bt. August 11, 1452, married Marie Bascom on June 3, 1485, of Beaupaume, and died in 1527.

"WITNESSETH that at the maison Lizette in Beaupaume, on June 3, 1485 appeared Jean Tone, of Chesney, Jeanne DuFour, his wife, and their eldest son Jean Tone, as well as his uncle Philip Tone of Cambrai, and Guillaume Bascom, Adelaide Chabane, his wife, and their youngest daughter, Marie Bascom, for the purpose of marriage between the said Jean Tone, Mr. & Marie Bascom."

CHILDREN OF JEAN TONE AND MARIE BASCOM TONE

1. JEAN TONE; bt. April 7, 1486.

TRANSLATION, FROM FRENCH, OF WILL OF JEAN TONE

"Know all that I, Jean Tone, sieur of Beaupaume, of sound mind and memory, thanks to God, but infirm of body, considering the frailty of human nature equal to all men and women, and that nothing is so certain as death, yet the hour thereof is uncertain; not desiring to die intestate, have made the following testament in the manner and form as follows:

Item, and first of all, I recommend my soul to God, its creator, to the Virgin Mary, and to all the Saints of Paradise, and desires that my body shall be buried in the parish church.

Item, Having contracted a marriage with Jeanne Duval, my wife, she is to have all the benefits thereof.

Item, I give to the five children of Joseph-Pierre Tone, my brother, Joseph Tone, Marie Gasque, his wife, Jerome Tone, Henrietta Auger, his wife, and their little son Flibton; Jean Tone, William Tone, and Maria Tone two hundred ecus each, payable by my residuary legatee, and in lieu of all further claims upon my estate.

Item, I give to Pierre and Jerome Breman, sons of my sister, Marie Louise Tone, wife of M. Jean Breman, a sum of two hundred ecus each.

Item, I give to Claude, Marie and Jean Tone, children of my brother Joseph-Alfred Tone, of Chesney, and Cecile Bloedel, his wife, the sum of two hundred ecus each...

Item, I make my wife, Jeanne Duval, my executrix.

/s/ JEAN TONE"

2. MARIE LOUISE TONE; bt. August 19, 1487; married Jean Breman, son of Jean Breman, of Montherme, and Marie Broquin, his wife, and referred to in his father's will as "son fils esne" (eldest son).

FIFTH GENERATION

A.D. 1496

Joseph-Pierre Tone, bt. March 12, 1496, son of Jean Tone and Marie Bascom, his wife, of Beaupaume, is referred to by his eldest brother, Jean Tone, of Beaupaume, in the latter's will of November 11, 1569 with his children: Joseph and the latter's wife Marie Gasque; Jerome and his wife, Henriette Auger with their little son Flibton; Jean, Guillaume and Marie Tone.

He is mentioned also in his grandmother, Jeanne Du Four Tone's will, 1519.

Joseph-Pierre married, May 3, 1538, Philippa Jeanninge, daughter of Joseph Jeanninge and Philippa Daniel, a daughter of Philip Daniel and Agnes de Laygnac, of Croiselles. Philippa Daniel died in 1538.

TRANSLATION, FROM LATIN, OF WILL OF PHILIPPA TONE

"IN THE NAME OF THE TRINITY, FATHER, SON AND HOLY GHOST, AMEN. I, Philippa Tone, widow, by the grace of God of sound mind and memory, and considering that all mortals must die, but that the hour of death is uncertain, and not desiring to die intestate, have disposed of the property, which God has granted unto me, in the following manner.

First, and before everything, I recommend my soul to God, the Virgin Mary, his mother, and to the Apostles Peter and Paul, with all the celestial bodies, desiring to be buried in the Tomb of my husband, Jean Tone, Sieur of Bapaume.

I order that all my debts be paid.

Item, I order and constitute my eldest son Joseph to be my executor.

Item, I give and bequeath to Jerome, my son, my lands at Bapaume.

Item, The residue of my estate, real and personal, to be distributed equally among my children, Johannes, William and Mary.

Item, I give to Joseph, son of Johannes Tone, and his wife, Mary Gasque, 20 sols. current value.

SIXTH GENERATION

A.D. 1540

Jerome Tone, bt. May 7, 1540, married June 11, 1565, Henrietta Auger, daughter of Pierre Auger and Derirée du Vergier of Rumigny.

It was rumored that Louis XI., who had ransomed the Somme towns from the Duke of Burgundy, and who tried to win over the middle classes and the populace, would not impose any more taxes or tallages, and the Deputies of Champagne, among whom we find Jean Auger, brother of Henrietta, that he desired to put an end to all sorts of exactions, they believed him. The King had remarked, incidentally that when he came into his kingdom he "saw houses in ruin, fields without tillage, men and women in rags, faces pinched and pale" and that he "desired to apply a remedy," the deputies departed, believing in the King's promises.

When the time came for renewal of the taxes, the people showed opposition, and the papers were burned in the open street. By the use of strategy, the King put down the rebellion, the ringleaders were drawn and quartered, and about one hundred persons were beheaded or hanged, among these Francois Auger, another brother of Henrietta.

Pierre Auger, brother of Henrietta, was an innkeeper and landowner in Draiz, with some holdings in Nouzon. He married Isabel Moussac, of Novion Porcien, daughter of Paul Germain Moussac and Isabelle Auriol. Paul Germain Auger, son of Pierre and Isabelle Moussac, lived upon his farm in Draiz, and married there Marie Louise Jacques. Paul Auger, a son of Paul G. Auger, bapt. March 12, 1549 married Celester Dubarry, daughter of a butcher in Rethes, and their son Jean Auger, emigrated to Montreal, Canada in 1640, but returned to France to marry Louise Grisard, and emigrated with wife to Montreal, 1650. This family resided at Champlain, St. Jean Deschaillone, Montreal and St. Laurent.

Jerome Tone married Henriette Auger by contract, June 11, 1565:

> "Know all men....that at our court in Leon....Jerome Tone, residing at Noyon, a grandson of Jean Tone, and Marie Bascom, deceased, of Baupaume; and Pierre Auger, also esquire, seigneur of Vergier and Rumigny, and mademoiselle Désiré du Vergier, his wife, and mademoiselle Henriette Auger, their eldest daughter....for marriage between said Jerome and Henriette.... Pierre Auger granting a dot of three hundred eccus of sixty sous each to his said daughter Henriette....and the said Tone assigns his manor at Noyon with the appurtenances....".

Jerome Tone purchased the manor and lands at Noyon, 1568:

"Know ye all men that Charles Albert, of Noyon has sold to Jerome Tone, resident of Baupaume, and mademoiselle Henriette Auger, his wife, all the inheritance to lands and manor in Noyon, which said Albert had from the estate of Jean Martin....for a sum of two hundred livres...."

Jerome Tone died in Noyon 1619 intestate, and Henriette Auger, his wife, made her will there September 9, 1627:

"....desires to be buried in the church St. Madeleine, in Noyon, with my deceased husband, Jerome Tone, buried there in 1619.... desires to have the presbytery and assistants of the church to say masses for her soul....

Item, Henri Tone, my youngest son, to be the executor and residuary legatee....Collecta, wife of Folk Davilliers, and daughter of M. Jerome Tone and said Henrietta Auger; Pierre and Francis Tone, sons of Joseph Tone and Marie Gasque, his wife; Jean Tone, son of M. Jerome Tone and Henriette Auger, his wife, residing in England, and their children: Henri, Francis, Hughes, Jacques and Antoine; Henri and Jean Auger, sons of M. Guillaume Auger and Marie Dudevant, his wife, of Noyon, twenty eccus each..."

CHILDREN OF JEROME TONE AND HENRIETTE AUGER TONE

1. FLIBTON TONE; bt. April 7, 1568; married, June 11, 1593, Suzanne Gladding, and settled in Rouen. He emigrated to England in 1599, and appears there with his wife among "straingers in Alhallowes in the Walle Parishe, London" 1599, as Flibton Tone and his wife, paying xvj d. in the Subsidy of 1 Oct. 1599, Lay Subsidies, London, 146/390. Flibton deceased June 6, 1625.

2. JEAN TONE; bt. February 16, 1569, of whom presently;

3. HENRI TONE; bt. March 4, 1570, married Cecile Beringer, daughter of Claude Beringer, on September 11, 1600.

Henri Tone, the youngest son, was then the only son living in France, Jean Tone and Flibton Tone, having emigrated to England in 1586 and 1599; both became naturalized in London, as we shall see. Flibton died there in 1625 without issue, having married Suzanne Gladding, sister of Marie Gladding, who married his brother, John Tone, and is therefore not mentioned in his mother's will of 1627.

SEVENTH GENERATION

A.D. 1569

JEAN TONE, bt. February 16, 1569 in Noyon, Dept, Oise, Canton Compiege, l'eglise de la Madeleine, son of Jerome Tone and Henriette Auger, his wife, is mentioned in the will of Jeann Dufour Tone, November 11, 1569, his grand-uncle, Jean Tone's, wife Jeanne Duval of Baupaume, with his parents, Jerome Tone and Henriette Auger, his wife, and his brother, Flibton.

His grandmother, Philippa Jenninge, had a brother, Guillaume Jeanninge, who emigrated to England, and is mentioned as a stranger in Saint Mary Somerset parish, naturalized in London, 1541. Another brother of Philippa, died in Ireland September 2, 1575, leaving a wife, Marie de Monts and a son, Jean Jeanninge with wife Francoise Gladdin and two children, Guillaume and Marie.

Thomas Jeanninge, another brother of Philippa, emigrated to England, and is referred to in English State papers as having taken part in the Gunpowder Plot.

Jean Jeanninge, another brother of Philippa, married Marie Du Monts, and emigrated to England with wife and son Jean, "a dresser of feathers, French, 3 years in England, but not a denizen, residing in the Brodstrete Ward, London, 1567, alien in London." In a Lay Subsidy of 1569, he is noted as "gone". He came to Ireland and died in Killany, Co. Louth, 1575; the children were innkeepers at St. Bridges, Dublin, later on emigrating to the New World.

Jean Tone's mother, Henriette Auger, wife of Jerome Tone, of Noyon, had a nephew, Paul Germain Auger, of Draiz, whose son, Paul Auger, had wife Celest Dubarry, and son Jean Auger, who emigrated to Montreal, Canada.

Jean Tone is mentioned also in the will of his mother, Henriette Auger, as then (in 1627) in England, and his children, Henri, Francis, Hughes, Jacob, and Antoine.

Flibton Tone, eldest brother of Jean Tone, had married Suzanne Gladding, and emigrated, via Rouen, to England, in 1599, residing among other strangers in Alhallows in the Wall parish, London with wife, paying a subsidy.

Jean Tone had emigrated to London, 1586 or shortly before, living in Eastsmythfield, Middlesex, where he was paying a subsidy on April 1, 1586 as an alien of xix s.iiij d. (Lay Subsidies Middlesex, 142/211, Certificate of 1 April 28 Elizabeth). He returned to France in 1593 to claim his share of the inheritance after his uncle Joseph Tone, who had died leaving neither wife nor living children, and his brother Flibton joined him in the claim before his own emigration to England in 1599. He married In 1593 and returned to England in 1611 with wife and five children. Jean Tone and Flibton Tone's cliam against the Estate of Joseph Tone is as follows: "We, Jean Tone, aged twenty-four or thereabout, and Flibton Tone, aged twenty-five or thereabout hereby authorize Master Frederic Babinet, of Beauvais, to represent us in our demands on the estate of our uncle Joseph Tone, deceased without leaving heirs of his body."

CHILDREN OF JEAN TONE AND MARIE GLADDING TONE

1. FRANCOIS TONE; bt. June 11, 1595, of whom presently will appear as head of the eighth generation.

2. HENRI TONE; bt. May 9, 1596.

3. JACQUES TONE; bt. April 17, 1597; married Helen Hay, daughter of John Hay, a Scotchman, who had settled in France, a younger son of William Hay of Edinburgh, and who married Elizabeth Caldwell, returning to Scotland upon the death of his elder brother, whom he inherited 1649. Jacques Tone and Helen Hay, apothecary of London, residing in St. Mildred, Poultney, heir to Samuel Hay, carpenter, of Edinburgh, November 2, 1708 and who married, September 9, 1706, Judith, daughter of Mathew Forster, 'vintner' of London. Adam Hay, brother of Charles, married, 1707, Elizabeth, daughter of Sylvanus Bevan, chemist, of St. Mildred, and when she died August 8, 1728, Adam Hay emigrated to New York, where on May 15, 1732, Dr. of Physick, Adam Hay, mortgaged to Sylvanus Bevan, Citizen and apothecary of London, for the payment of £.236 one fifth of the 148th part of the Province of East New Jersey.

4. HUGH TONE; bt. September 1, 1598

5. ANTOIŃE TONE; bt. February 7, 1600, came first to Rouen, where he married Perette Gagnon and had sons Roch and Pierre. He emigrated with wife and children to Boucherville, Canada.

EIGHTH GENERATION

A.D. 1595

FRANCOIS TONE; bt. June 11, 1595 in Noyon, son of Jean Tone and Marie Gladding, his wife. The father had emigrated to London in 1586, as we find from a Subsidy Roll, living, a single man, in Eastmythfield, Middlesex, and paying as an alien xix s.iiij d. Many of his relatives had emigrated to London, e.g. Guillaume Jenninge, who was naturalized there in 1541, Thomas Jenninge, also a brother of Philippa Jeanninge, Jean Tone's grandmother and Jean Jeanninge, who was a dresser of feathers, French, 3 years in England, an alien but not a denizen, who went over to Ireland and died at Killany, Co.

Louth, his children living in Dublin, where they were innkeepers.

Returning to Noyon, France, to claim his inheritance after his uncle, Jean Tone married Marie Gladding, a family that emigrated to England and finally to Dublin.

Many other families, connected by marriage with the Tone family, of Bavai, Noyon, Nouzon, etc. emigrated to England, and Jean Tone returned to London with wife and five children in 1611.

Francis Tone, son of Jean Tone and his wife Marie Gladding, married, September 8, 1647, Anne, a daughter of Richard Hyde and Anne Moigne, sister of Humphrey Hyde, and grandchildren of Humphrey Hyde of Abendon, 'fil. Johannis' and his wife Dorothea, 'filia Richardi Lyon, vx prima de Nilsden in Com. Midd.', who married, 2dly. Aucica, daughter of John Gifford, of Southampton. Humphrey Sr. was son of John Hyde and Maria Keckwich, of Woodham Ferrers, Essex.

"Francis Tone, of Dublin, gentleman, died intestate 1661" (May 3). -Act or Grant Books, Diocese of Dublin, P.8.

"Thomas Hide and Elizabeth Massey were married by license in Dublin, June 11, 1667" (Ib. marriage licenses, 209).

In an inventory of the goods of Anne Tone, widow of Francis Tone, gentleman, of Dublin, deceased May 3, 1661, aged 66 (hence born in 1595), Mary Farrell, daughter of the said Francis Tone and Anne Hide, his wife, who was daughter of Richard Hide and Anne Moigne, his wife, of Stewardstown, Co. Dublin, and that the said Francis Tone had issue, said Mary Farrell, born Tone, Thomas Tone and Hugh Tone....November 3, 1672. - Exchequer Pleadings, in a suit for recovery of lands in Ardee, Co. Louth, which one Richard Farrell, skinner, of Clonmines, claimed as eldest son of Richard Farrell, of Clonmines and Mathilda, his wife, consisting of a messuage and two plowlands in Aredd, granted by the said Peter Hyde to Richard Farrell. Plaintiff opposed the administration of the goods of the said Margaret Hyde, widow of the said Peter Hyde, but dropped the claim upon payment by the said Francis Tone's son Hugh Tone and Sarah Bodine, his wife, of 40s.18.6."....

THOMAS TONE

TENTH GENERATION

A.D. 1682

THOMAS TONE; bpt. in St. Catherine Church, Dublin, February 12, 1682; married, June 8, 1718, Susanna, daughter of Thomas Budd and Susanna, daughter of Jonathan Caldwell, and resided on Lurgan Street Dublin. Thomas Budd was son of Nicholas Budd, whose brother, Joseph Budd, emigrated to New Haven, Conn. 1632.

This was a period of disturbances all over Great Britain. Thomas Tone was three years old, when the Monmouth's Insurrection began and his defeat at the battle of Sedgemoor; the Bloody Assizes were then held by Judge Jeffreys to punish the rebels. Argyle's Rebellion in Scotland failed. James II. of England fled in 1688, when both Whigs and Tories had invited intervention of William of Orange, who landed at Torbay on November 15, 1688 and reached London December 19th. James II. landed in Ireland, but fails in the siege of Londonderry, 1689, and by the Battle of Killiecrankie the King's army was defeated. The following year William III. went to Ireland, defeating James II. at the Battle of Boyne, in 1690, and at the Battle of Aughrim.

The disturbances caused by these wars, the political situation, the heavy speculation of all classes in the South Sea Company stock, known as the South Sea Bubble, which spread ruin everywhere, and the glowing notices that came from the New World, the failure of crops and general economical depression caused a large emigration to the New World

WILLIAM TONE. In the autobiography of his grandson, Theobald Wolfe Tone, it is related: "My grandfather, William Tone, was a respectable farmer near Naas, in the County of Kildare. Being killed by a fall off a stack of his own corn, in the year 1766, his property being freehold leases, descended to my father, his eldest son, who was, at that time, in successful business as a coachmaker. He set, in consequence, the lands which came thus into his possession to his youngest brother, which, eventually, was the cause of much litigation between them, and ended in a decree of the Court of Chancery, that utterly ruined my father." William Tone married Jane Kinney, daughter of Thomas Kinney and Jane Ford, daughter of Peter Ford. He died at Clane, County Kildare, April 24, 1766, and is buried in the churchyard of Bodenstown, County Kildare.

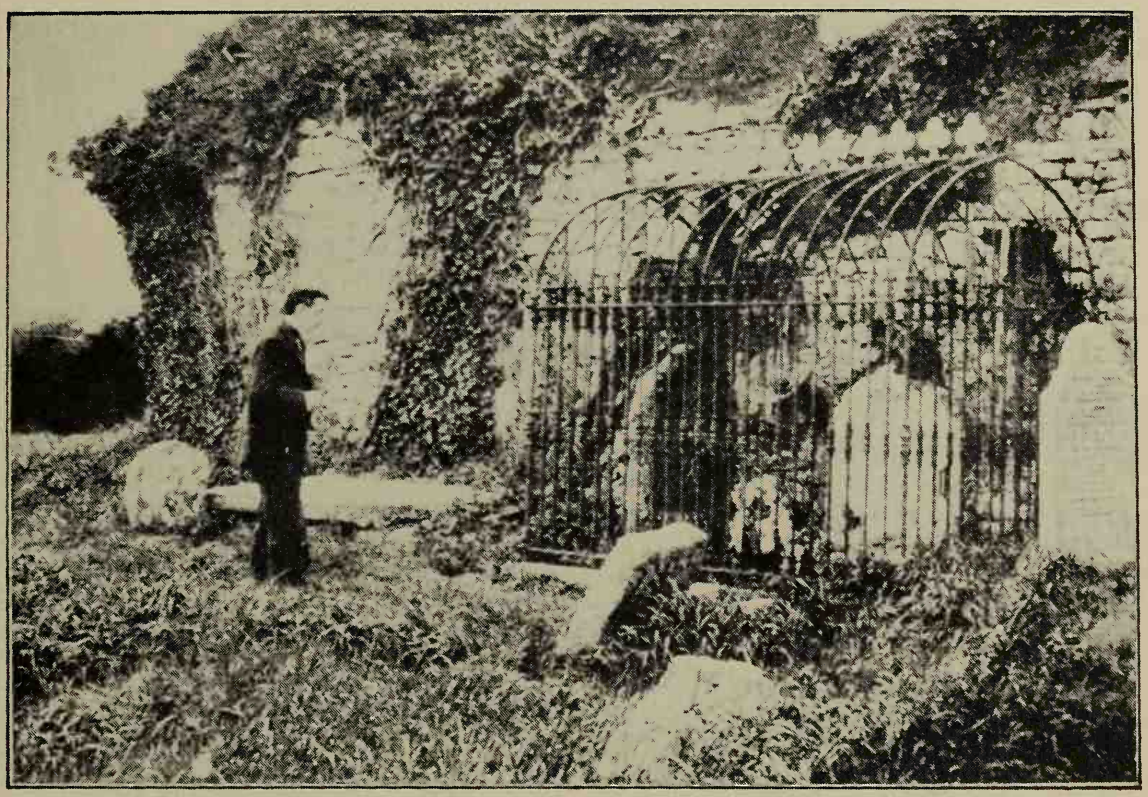
The inscription, now barely legible, reads: "This Burial Place Belongs to Wm. Tone & his Family. Here lieth the Body of the above who Departed this Lifey '24th of April 1766 aged 60 years, also 3 of his Children."



Burial place of William Tone (1706-1766) and his family in the churchyard of Bodenstown, County Kildare, Ireland. Here also is buried Theobald Wolfe Tone (1763-1798).

THEOBALD WOLFE TONE

THEOBALD WOLFE TONE, IRISH REVOLUTIONIST, eldest child of Peter Tone, was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, took his degree in 1786, studied law and was called to the bar at Middle Temple in 1789. A brilliant writer, he issued a number of pamphlets to expose the British misrule in Ireland. In company with Napper Tandy and Thomas Russell, all ardent sympathizers with the doctrine of the French Revolution, he promoted a union of Irish Roman Catholics and Protestant dissenters, and founded at Belfast in 1791 the first Society of "United Irishmen." The movement in the beginning was for parliamentary reform only, but when this appeared unattainable, they adopted Tone's opinions to establish an Irish Republic by armed rebellion. Tone drew up a memorandum on the state of Ireland, asserting it to be ripe for revolution. The paper was betrayed to the Governor and several United Irishmen were arrested and charged with treason, while others fled the country.

Tone, went to America in 1795, residing for a few months in Princeton and Philadelphia, where he met fellow exiles and the French Minister. Founding his hopes on a French invasion, he sailed for France in January, 1796. The French Directory was greatly impressed with his energy and sincerity and accepted his plan. He aided General Hoche to fit out an expedition in which he was appointed Adjutant-General in the French army with the rank of Chief of Brigade.

On December 10, 1796 an expedition of 43 boats and 15,000 men left Brest but were dispersed by a storm off the coast of Kerry. Tone returned to Paris and found that his chief supporter, General Hoche, had died. He had several interviews with Bonaparte, who was unsympathetic and soon departed for Egypt, but Tone did not despair. When the rebellion broke out in Ireland in 1798, with fresh vigor Tone again urged the French Directory to send assistance but was promised only small raids along the Irish coast. The first, under Humbert, landed at Killala and was subdued by Lake and Cornwallis. Wolfe Tone's brother Matthew was captured, court-martialed and hanged. The second expedition met disaster under Donegal and the third, under Adam Bompard with 3,000 men, engaged the English squadron near Loch Swilly. When the Hoche was forced to surrender, Tone was made prisoner, tried by court-martial in Dublin, and sentenced to be hanged, although he pleaded that his status as a French officer entitled him to be shot. Learning that the English planned a public hanging in the City Square the following day, he was found with his throat cut and finally died of his wounds on November 19, 1798.

JOHN FREDERIC TONE (See pages 41 & 59 of Thomas Hill's "Three Ancient Cemeteries of N.H.") was a Hessian Trooper, snatched off the street in his native Germany and brought to this country. He deserted and joined the Revolutionary forces and still later, with his son, Christopher, served in the War of 1812. His grave is to be marked by the Col. Samuel Ashley Chapter, D.A.R., Claremont, N.H. This information was furnished by a great grandson, Prof. Samuel W. Cole (see page 42 - born December 24, 1848) of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Mass.

"JOHN FREDERIC TONE CAME TO AMERICA AS A HESSIAN SOLDIER, DESERTED AND JOINED THE AMERICAN ARMY." (from town records)

Howard Zea, Town Clerk
Plainfield, New Hampshire

WHO WERE THE HESSIANS?

HESSIAN (Hes'sian) (hĕsh'ăn) is a designation, often indiscriminately used for all German mercenaries. The Hessians were, strictly speaking, the 17,000 men, who were natives of Hesse and Hesse-Cassel, Germany, who were sent to Great Britain, by the Landgrave of Hesse-Cassel, Germany, to come to America to fight on the side of the British against the Americans in the War of the Revolution. These German men were the best soldiers in the world, all well disciplined and drilled in the Prussian tradition in the wars of Frederic the Great and officered by well-trained men with battle experience. The Jäger Corps, light troops, rivaled the American riflemen.

The Hessian troops did not come here voluntarily to fight. They were ordered here by their Princes, who received the price of their hire, at a stipulated sum per head. They were caught, it is said, while congregated in their churches, on the streets and elsewhere, and forced into the service. Most of them were torn reluctantly from their families and friends. Most were married and wore heavy gold wedding rings. The morality of Britain's hiring mercenary troops, stemmed from its failure in recruiting. The Whig opposition in England and the propagandists in America were certainly justified in raising a roar of righteous contempt. Mercenaries were defined as soldiers who "fight for money and not for love of country". However, the charge could be made that without large bonuses and promises of Veteran's benefits General Washington would never have reached his peak strength of 10,000 soldiers in a country that had an estimated 60,000 white patriots. There was nothing new in the hiring of mercenaries in Europe but it raised indignation in America.

The appearance of the Hessians was that of "pretty toy soldiers". Even though they had been snatched from their families once they were in the service of their Princes their conduct was very much "by the book"...well-trained and efficient. The drumbeat was the signature of the Hessians. It defined their presence like the rattles on the tail of a snake that is feared by creatures with a hundred times its strength; the drum said, "here we are and be damned to you! Leave us alone." The Hessians marched by the extremely steady drumbeat as though each beat were monitored by a metronome, tad-tad-dum-dum-dum, tad-tad-dum-dum-dum, over and over, over and over. The drum defined the Hessians. As they marched the drummer boy was always out in front followed by the officer on his horse and the men following on foot, two by two one could hear the metronome-beat of their black boots and see the greased pigtails sticking out of the shining black hats which swayed with each step. They wore green jackets with bright yellow facings, their bayonet scabbards slapped their thighs, the big, waxed mustaches they sported....all of it a signature of screaming, methodical death. It was said by one who heard the approaching Hessians, "my scalp stiffened and a cold chill raised gooseflesh on my bare arms." The drum defined the presence of the Hessians, tad-tad-dum-dum-dum, tad-tad-dum-dum-dum.

Early in the spring of 1776 these Hessians, with a considerable number of troops from England and Ireland, sailed for America, under convoy of a British fleet commanded by Admiral Lord Howe. The fierce Hessian warriors were first let loose upon the patriots in the Battle of Long Island and thenceforth they bore a prominent part in many of the conflicts ensuing

The Hessian mercenaries won no laurels in America. The Americans thought of them not as a name for men but for a nightmare that had lived with them so long that it had become a part of their language & culture, men of steel will and determination, men trained to be machines.

It was known that many Hessians would desert as soon as they reached America as their fellow Germans, who were numerous in the colonies, were all patriots and would have great influence over them. It was estimated that there were 150,000 German emigrants in the colonies at the time, most all of whom were sympathetic to the American cause. The Princes, however, counted on the valor of the veteran troops and that it would only be necessary for these blood-hounds to show in America to make the rebellious patriots lay down their arms and surrender. A great many did desert and became members of the American army and after their discharge they received an honorable discharge and entered the American "melting pot" many later becoming citizens of the United States. All of those persons listed in Part Two of this book are descendants of.....

JOHN FREDERIC TONE WHO WAS A HESSIAN TROOPER. He was snatched off the street in his native Hesse or Hesse-Cassel, Germany and brought to this country, against his will, to fight with the English against the Patriots in the Revolutionary War. He later deserted and joined the American forces and was severely wounded in both the battles of Kingsbridge and Yorktown. After the war he settled in Plainfield, New Hampshire where he resided until he enlisted as a soldier in the War of 1812. After that war he returned to Plainfield, New Hampshire where he lived out his remaining years with his family.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORD

John F. Tone wrote in his application for pension concerning his war service: ".....in the month of January 1781 I enlisted into a Company commanded by Capt. Pearson in a Regiment of infantry commanded by Col. Samuel B. Webb in the Connecticut line for the term of three years - that in the course of said term I was in the battle at Kingsbridge where I was wounded and in the battle at Yorktown where I received a severe wound in taking the redoubts - that I continued in active service against the Common enemy all the time after my said enlistment except when I was confined to the hospital by my wounds until the latter part of the month of October 1783 when I was honorably discharged at West Point in the state of New York by General Henry Knox who gave me a written discharge...."

THE BATTLE OF KINGSBRIDGE, NEW YORK

The point at which the Post Road crossed Spuyten Duyvil Creek, which separates Manhattan from the Bronx. Kings Bridge was strategically important in the New York Campaign and subsequently in the British defense of New York City. It was an objective of American forces under Major General Lincoln in the operations against Manhattan at the start of the Yorktown campaign, in July, 1781. The name is also variously spelled King's Bridge and Kingsbridge. The vicinity of Kings Bridge was the scene of many stirring events during the Revolution. Near there was a severe skirmish between a detachment of General Heath's troops and some Hessians, on the seventeenth of January, 1777. It was the result of an attempt by the Americans to dislodge the Hessians from Fort Prince. A little west of the bridge, Tippett's brook flows into the Hudson. At this point was the quarters of a Hessian picket-guard in 1777, and here Washington and his staff dined in July, 1781, when the British pickets were driven beyond Kings Bridge by Lincoln.

THE BATTLE OF YORKTOWN

In the summer of 1781, the American Revolution was six years old. Both sides were tired of the war. The British were conducting a campaign 3,000 miles from home that was costly and not universally popular in England. The Americans also had difficulty in keeping up morale. Their troops were badly equipped, money was scarce, and a considerable portion of the population was sympathetic to the British cause. Neither the Americans nor the British would give up, but it also seemed that neither could muster enough force to put an end to the war.

Early in the spring of 1781 additional Franch troops arrived to help the Americans. This was a boost for the morale of General George Washington's troops. Washington decided that the time had come to strike. He spent several months trying to work out a plan of attack with his French allies.

The main body of American Troops was stationed near New York City, which was held by the English under General Clinton. The situation in the north was static. Most of the fighting had been going on in the south between Lord Cornwallis' English army and the American units under General Nathanael Greene. In April, 1781, Cornwallis decided the war could be won only if he took Virginia, which was defended by a small force under the French General Lafayette. After a number of insignificant engagements on its way north, Cornwallis' army of about 5,300 veterans camped in and around Yorktown, Virginia, which was near the mouth of Chesapeake Bay.

Washington learned that a French naval force under Admiral de Grasse would be in the Chesapeake Bay area in the autumn. He decided that this was the opportunity he had been waiting for.

Leaving behind a large force so that Clinton would not know what was happening, Washington secretly started to march south with over 6,000 troops, two thirds of them French under Rochambeau. Meanwhile, Comte Francois de Grasse had blockaded the mouth of Chesapeake Bay so the British troops at Yorktown, now numbering about 7,500, could not be reinforced. Cornwallis, to meet the coming onslaught, built trenches and fortifications and set up gun emplacements commanding the level ground around the town.

The allied forces under Washington gathered at Williamsburg, Virginia, during the middle of September. On September 28, they marched down the peninsula and laid siege to Yorktown. Cornwallis immediately drew back within the town. Washington occupied his position and built a line of fortifications around Yorktown, from the York River on the east to Yorktown Creek on the west.

On the night of October 6, the allied troops moved into position close to the British lines and began to construct an advance line of trenches from which to besiege the British defenders. The work was completed in three days, and then the American batteries from the right and the French batteries from the left began to bombard the enemy. They soon subdued Cornwallis' guns, and they were able to close in at shorter range. On the night of October 14, two advance British strong points were taken and the position of the British army became desperate. There was sickness among the British soldiers, and the French naval blockade had created shortages of food and supplies. The allied bombardment never stopped. It was terribly destructive both to the town and to the English units there.

On the night of October 16, Cornwallis tried to escape across the river, but his boats were scattered by a storm. The next morning he sent out a flag of truce and asked Washington for a discussion of surrender terms. The following day commissioners met to discuss terms. The British army laid down its arms and marched out of Yorktown on October 19, 1781, between columns of French and American soldiers.

The Battle of Yorktown helped to make George Washington one of the great military leaders of the world. He had accepted command of the colonial armies on July 3, 1775. From the first, he had had to operate under severe handicaps. The Continental Congress, having no legal power to demand money, troops, or supplies from the states, could not give him sufficient support. There were no draft laws, and he had to depend on the volunteers, many of whom enlisted for short terms. Military discipline was also a problem.

What Washington lacked in military necessities he made up for by his skill and resourcefulness. He used what he had, fighting when he thought he had an advantage, retreating when he thought the enemy was too strong for his unseasoned troops. It was a victory in itself that his ragged army was not destroyed in the first years of the war.

As modern battles go, the Battle of Yorktown was not a large one. About 20,000 men fought in it, and about 1,000 men altogether were killed or wounded. Nevertleless, this battle fought on the level fields around Yorktown was one of the most decisive battles ever waged, as well as one of the most important events of American history. Although the Revolution did not end formally until nearly two years later, in reality this dramatic victory at Yorktown ended forever English control of the American colonies.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Use this form to order photocopies of records of veterans who served in the United States or Confederate armed forces. These records include:

PENSION APPLICATION FILES based on United States (not State) service before World War I.

NOTE: Pensions based on military service for the Confederate States of America were authorized by some Southern States but not by the Federal Government until 1959. Inquiries about State pensions should be addressed to the State archives or equivalent agency at the capital of the veteran's State of residence after the war.

BOUNTY-LAND WARRANT APPLICATION FILES based on United States (not State) service before 1856.

NOTE: Pension or bounty-land warrant application files usually include an official statement of the veteran's military or naval service, as well as information of a personal or genealogical nature. If we find such a file, we send copies of the documents we feel will be most useful to you.

MILITARY SERVICE RECORDS based on service in the United States Army (officers who served before June 30, 1917, enlisted men before October 31, 1912), Navy (officers and enlisted men who served before 1886), Marine Corps (officers and enlisted men who served before 1896), and Confederate armed forces (1861-65). (We cannot provide photocopies of files for veterans whose service terminated less than 75 years ago, however we are usually able to provide certain information from the files).

NOTE: Military service records rarely contain family information. The record of a man's service in any one organization is entirely separate from the record of his service in any other organization. We are ordinarily unable to accurately establish the identity of men of the same name who served in different organizations. If you know that a man served in more than one organization and you desire copies of his military service record, submit a separate form for the service record in each organization.

DO NOT USE THIS FORM TO REQUEST PHOTOCOPIES OF RECORDS RELATING TO SERVICE IN WORLD WARS I OR II OR SUBSEQUENT SERVICE. WRITE TO: NATIONAL PERSONNEL RECORDS CENTER, GSA, (MILITARY PERSONNEL RECORDS), 9700 PAGE BOULEVARD, ST. LOUIS, MO 63132.

When you send more than one form at a time, each order may be handled separately; you may not receive all your replies at the same time.

When we cite from our indexes that we have numerous files for veterans of the name given, we suggest that you visit the National Archives and examine the various files, or hire a professional researcher to examine each file for you. As a matter of policy the National Archives does not perform research for individuals; we are thus unable to make a file-by-file check to see if the information in the numerous files matches the information you have provided. The Board for Certification of Genealogists, 1307 New Hampshire Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20036, can provide you with the names of persons in the Washington area willing to do research for a fee. Also, genealogical researchers advertise their services in The Genealogical Helper, the most widely circulated genealogical magazine, available in most libraries having a genealogical section, or by subscription from Everton Publishers, P.O. Box 368, Logan, Utah 84321.

When, because of the size of a file, we are unable to provide copies of all documents, we send copies of the documents we feel will be most useful to you. You may order copies of all documents in a file by making such a specific request and authorizing us to bill you at 20¢ per page ($3 minimum).

More information about the availability of armed service records may be found in our free package of genealogical information leaflets and forms, available by writing to the address on the front of this form.

THE ECONOMY FOLLOWING THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR

The most catastrophic period of inflation in American history was during and shortly after the Revolutionary War....when currency became so worthless that one Philadelphia barber covered his walls with the paper money.

As serious as inflation is today (1978) it is nowhere near as bad as it was 200 years ago....during the war and at the time John Frederic Tone was settling in Plainfield, New Hampshire.

In Maryland, for example, the price of a bushel of wheat jumped from $1.00 in 1777 to a fantastic $5,043.00 in 1780. In Philadelphia the price of flour in 1781 was 149 times higher than it had been in 1774. The cost of room and board in the same city soared from $4.00 a week in 1776 to $100.00 a week in 1779. In a single month, from January to February 1779, the price of iron shot up an incredible 111 per cent.

And in a period of seven years beginning in 1774 the price of a barrel of beef skyrocketed a phenomenal 33,000 per cent. America's worst inflation.

This wild inflation was a result of the Continental Congress printing paper money to pay for the war against England. It had no power to raise money through taxation....so it resorted to the printing presses.

Before independence was won, the Continental Congress had issued at least $241 million in paper money and state governments had printed about $210 million more. During the war, production of goods dropped and vital commodities became scarce, making prices soar beyond immagination. The British made matters worse by counterfeiting Continental money to undermine the economy.

Merchants and traders began selling scarce goods to the highest bidder....and inflation galloped further out of control. It had devastating effects on the war effort of the struggling nation. Guns, clothing and other vital war supplies became so expensive that the Continental Army was in danger of falling apart. Inflation triggered mutinies by American soldiers in 1780 and 1781.

George Washington put much of the blame on war profiteers and strongly recommended hanging them. "No punishment in my opinion is too great for the man who can build his greatness upon his country's ruins," he wrote in 1778.

By January 1779, $8.00 in paper money would buy only $1.00 in gold or silver. Before the smae year ended, it took $38.00 in paper money to get $1.00 in hard gold or silver. And by January 1781, Continental currency had sunk to a new low, worth only 1¢ to the dollar. Angry citizens then coined the phrase "not worth a Continental."

State currencies fared even worse. When Virginia, in the 1780's, offered to redeem her paper money the state paid only $1.00 in coins for $1,000.00 in paper currency. It wasn's until the 1790's, a period of peace, prosperity and economic stability for the newborn nation, that the worst period of inflation in American history finally came to a much-welcomed end.

One can readily see that this period was a very difficult period in American history to accumulate assets of any kind. On page 102 is a listing of the Special Tax Levy Inventories for Plainfield, New Hampshire for the years 1787 (Tone had then lived in Plainfield for four years) to 1808. To accumulate this amount of money and property, during these very difficult times was indeed an accomplishment.

SPECIAL TAX LEVY INVENTORIES

PLAINFIELD, NEW HAMPSHIRE

John F. Tone was honorably discharged from the service in October of 1783, probably with no money as the government had no money to pay its troops, and settled in Plainfield. In checking the Special Tax Levy Inventories of property owned by the residents I found the following:

1787: His name was listed as Frederic John Tone. He was taxed 5 shillings, a very nominal amount as the highest taxes paid during this levy was 1 pound, 17 shillings, 6 pence. So, his holdings were very meager, in fact he was one of the poorest of the taxpayers.

1798: He owned 14 acres of land (2 tillage, 4 mowing & 8 pasture), 1 horse, 1 horse-2 winters, 2 oxen, 2 cows, 1 cattle-4 winters, 1 cattle-3 winters, 2 cattle-2 winters and wild land valued at $340.00. So, by 1798 he had become a well-established tax-paying farmer in the community.

1800: He owned 17 acres of land (1 tillage, 8 mowing & 8 pasture), 1 horse, 1 horse-5 winters, 1 horse-2 winters, 2 oxen-5 winters, 1 cow-5 winters, 1 new stock-4 winters.

1805: He owned 19 acres of land (1 arable, 8 mowing & 10 pasture), 1 colt, 1 horse-5 winters, 1 horse-2 winters, 2 oxen-4 winters, 3 cows-4 winters, 2 new stock-3 winters, 5 new stock-2 winters.

1808: He owned 20 acres of land (2 arable, 8 mowing & 10 pasture), 1 colt, 1 horse-5 winters, 1 horse-3 winters, 3 cows-4 winters, 3 new stock-3 winters, 2 new stock-2 winters.

To John F. Tone of Plainfield in the County of Sullivan and State of New Hampshire
Greeting

Whereas a petition has been presented to me the subscriber by Parker Cole of the same Plainfield setting forth that you are a person "non compos mentis" and praying that a Guardian may be appointed over you - Whereupon I issued a Warrant to the Selectmen of said Plainfield to make inquisition thereunto accordingly and to certify under their hands, their opinion whether you were a person "non compos mentis" and the said Selectmen have made a return to me under their hands stating that:

"In compliance with the foregoing warrant, we have made inquisition as to the said John F. Tone and it is our opinion, that he, the said John F. Tone is a non compos mentis.
Dated the 18th day of December, 1827

Signed: Reuben True
Timothy Hutting
Thomas Chellis, Jun.
Selectmen of the said town of Plainfield."

Now you will take notice that on Wednesday the Ninth day of April next at Nettleton Tavern in Newport in said County I shall take the subject matter of the petition aforesaid into consideration and you may then and there appear and show cause if any you have why a Guardian needs not be appointed over you.

Given under my hand and the Seal of the Court of Probate this twenty second day of March A. D. 1828.

Henry Hubbard, Judge of Probate in and for said County

I hereby certify that on the 2d day of April 1828 I gave the within named John F. Tone a true copy of the within by me certified as such —

Parker Cole

State of New Hampshire } Sworn to this 5th day of April Sullivan ss. } 1828. Before me

John Bryant Just Peace

Author's note: On April 9, 1828 John F. Tone was adjudged non compos mentis and on April 9, 1828 Christopher Tone, his son, Parker Cole, his son-in-law and Reubin True, his neighbor all used their real estate to secure the bond of Christopher Tone who was appointed by Probate Judge Henry Hubbard as Guardian of Christopher's father, John Frederic Tone. The bond which they gave follows:

BOND OF GUARDIAN

Know all Men by these Presents, that we Christopher Tone, Parker Cole & Reuben True all of Plainfield in the county of Sullivan and state of New Hampshire are holden and stand firmly bound and obliged unto the Judge of the Probate of Wills, and granting Administrations within the County of Sullivan, in the full sum of five hundred dollars to be paid unto the said Judge.—To the true payment whereof we do bind ourselves, and each of us, our, and each of our Heirs, Executors and Administrators, jointly and severally, for the whole, and in the whole, firmly by the these Presents. Sealed with our Seals. Dated the ninth Day of April in the year of our Lord, one thousand, eight huudred and twenty Eight

The Condition of the above written Obligation is such,

That whereas the above bounden Christopher Tone has this day been asssigned and appointed by the said Judge to be Guardian of John F Tone who ~~doth by~~ is now compos mentis and is inposed so spend, waste and lessen his estate, as thereby to expose himself and family to want and suffering circumstances ; and doth also thereby endanger and expose the said town of Plainfield to charge and expense for his and their maintenance and support.

Now therefore, if the said Christopher shall well and faithfully take care, as well of the person as estate, both real and personal, of the said John F Tone and make or cause to be made a true and perfect inventory of the said estate, and the same do exhibit, upon oath, into the Register's Office of Probate for the said County of Snllivan, on or before the 9th day of July next ; and shall well and truly perform and discharge the trust and office of guardian unto the said Tone and that in and by all things according to law ; and shall render a just and true account of his guardianship upon oath, when and so often as he shall be thereunto lawfully required ; and shall pay and deliver what and so much of the estate aforesaid as shall be found remaining upon his Account, the same having been examined and allowed of by the Judge or Judges of Probate, of Wills, &c. for the County of Sullivan aforesaid, unto the said John F Tone in case he shall be discharged from his said guardianship, as the law is such cases directs.—Then the foregoing obligation to be void and of none effect, otherwise to abide in full force and virtue.

Signed, Sealed and delivered in presence of us

Christopher Tone

Parker Coley

PERTINENT INFORMATION

The remainder of Chapter XIII of this genealogy is a tracing of the descendants of John Frederic Tone (Chapter XIII).

For instance: Christopher Tone (Chapter XIV) is a son of John Frederic Tone (Chapter XIII).

John Frederick Tone (Chapter XV) is a son of Christopher Tone (Chapter XIV).

Albert Lyman Tone (Chapter XVI) is a son of John Frederick Tone (Chapter XV).

Chapters XVI through XXIII are the chapters dealing with the children of John Frederick Tone (Chapter XV).

Thus, one can trace, through the remainder of this chapter, down to the children of John Frederick Tone (Chapter XV); then in chapters XVI through XXIII trace down to the present date the descendants of John Frederick Tone (Chapter XV).

Or, in the alternative, if one wants to commence with a name in Chapters XVI through XXIII he can trace up, generation by generation, finally up to John Frederic Tone (Chapter XIII).

Understanding this will make it relatively simple to trace, either up or down, the persons listed in this book.

In the event that the above explanation still is not clear it may help if you trace from your grandparents, to your parents and then to you.

To understand clearly the descendants in this and the following chapters refer to the LINEAGE CHART OF PART TWO on pages 18 & 19.

The genealogy of the COLE FAMILY, published in 1908, gives the lines of that branch that settled in Plainfield, NH.

JAMES COLE of Plymouth, Plymouth County, MA, was of Highgate, a suburb of London, England, in 1616. He married Mary, daughter of Mathiew Lobel, M. D., and Botanist, born Lille, 1538; died Highgate, March 2, 1616. James Cole came to Saco, ME, 1632, removed to Plymouth 1633. In 1637 his name appears upon a list of volunteers against the Pequot Indians. 4 children of record, 3 sons; the 2d son, 2d child was

HUGH COLE, born London, England in 1627; died Swansea, Bristol County, MA, January 22, 1699; married January 9, 1654, Mary, daughter of Richard Foxwell of Barnstable, Barnstable County, MA; married 2d, January 1, 1689, Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Lettuce of Plymouth, Plymouth County, MA, and 3d, January 30, 1694, Mary, daughter of Robert Shelley. 10 children, 6 sons. The youngest child was

BENJAMIN COLE, born Swansea, MA in 1678; died in 1748; will probated October 4th of that year; married June 27, 1701, Hannah, daughter of Caleb and Elizabeth (Bullock) Eddy, who died September 29, 1748. The house he built in Swansea in 1701 was still standing at this publication (1908). He was Deacon of the church in that place. 8 children, 6 sons; the 2d son, 3d child was

BENJAMIN COLE, born Swansea, MA, October 31, 1706; died December 20, 1776; married November 19, 1730; Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas and Hope (Huckins) Nelson of Middleborough, Plymouth County, MA, who died March 25, 1748; married 2d, September 22, 1749, Hannah, widow of Job Luther, daughter of Richard Harding. 12 children, 7 sons; the 5th son, 10th child was PARKER COLE, born Swansea, MA, January 13, 1756; died Plainfield, Sullivan County, NH, April 25, 1839; married July 12, 1783, Lois, daughter of Job and Anna (Horton) Martin. He was a Revolutionary soldier from Swansea. Soon after the war he removed to Grafton, Grafton County, NH, and in 1822 to Plainfield. A clerical or typographical error in the published work has confused the record of the first two children Elizabeth and Luther, the 3d child in that record was PARKER COLE, JR., husband of SUSANNAH TONE.

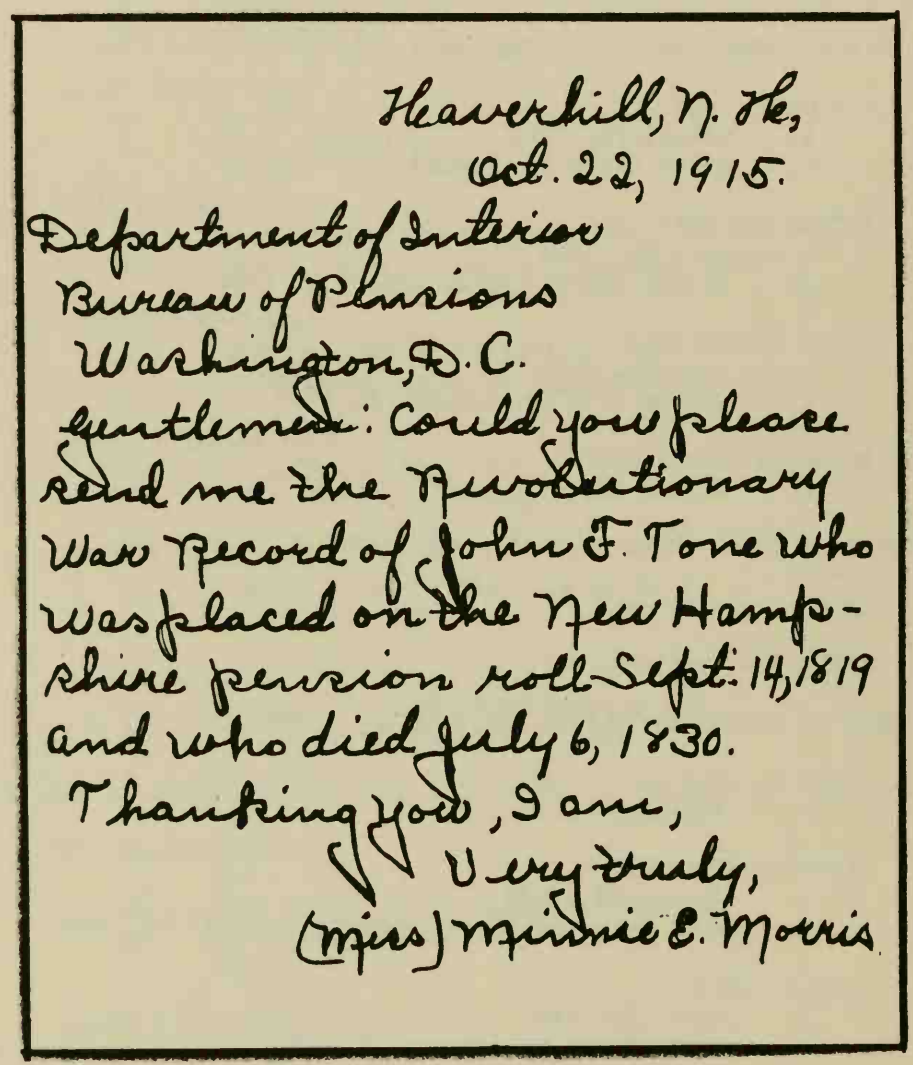
The following letter was written by Miss Morris to obtain the service record of John Frederick Tone, Revolutionary War soldier, in order to qualify as a member of the Daughters of American Revolution:



Haverhill, N. Hs,
Oct. 22, 1915.

Department of Interior
Bureau of Pensions
Washington, D.C.

Gentlemen: Could you please send me the Revolutionary War Record of John F. Tone who was placed on the New Hampshire pension roll Sept. 14, 1819 and who died July 6, 1830.

Thanking you, I am,

Very truly,

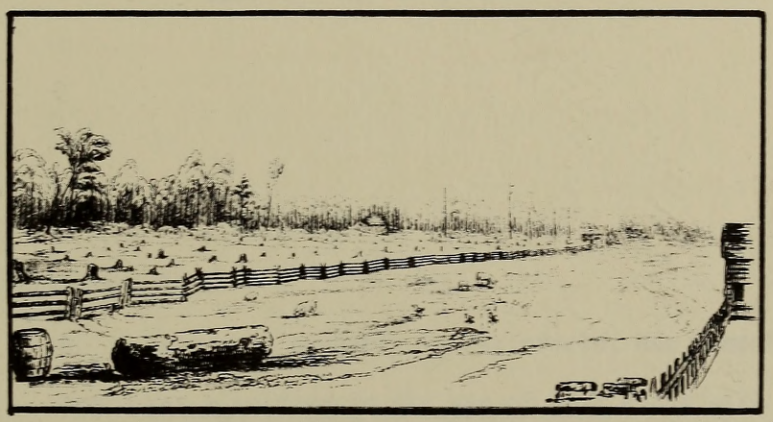
(Miss) Minnie E. Morris

JOHN FREDERIC TONE
CHAPTER 1 - UPDATE

Update #1:

(19) CHILDREN OF BENJAMIN COLE AND LUCY ANN HATCH COLE

com. According to the 1850 United States Census of Plainfield, NH Benjamin Cole & Lucy Ann Hatch Cole also had living in their home (Dwelling Number 207 - Family Number 222) Edward Williams, age 18, born in NH; Jerome Watson, age 21, born in NH and Sarah Tone, probably daughter of Christopher Tone, age 22, born in VT.



Stumps, rail fence and mud dominated the landscape of the 1830's.

2. *CHRISTOPHER TONE

b. date unk. probably in Plainfield, New Hampshire

com. Was a soldier in the War of 1812 along with his father, John Frederic Tone, who also served in the Revolutionary War.

com. After the War of 1812 he returned for a short time to Plainfield, NH and then moved to Franklin County, OH

o. Agriculture and Soldier

com. During his lifetime he owned considerable land in New Hampshire, Franklin County, Ohio and Delaware County, Ohio

d. August 19, 1850 at Franklin County, OH of cholera during the epedemic.

com. Cholera had plagued Ohio since 1845 and many left the state. It again appeared in Columbus, Ohio in 1849, and again many fled. Others remained, including Christopher and Aurilla Tone and their family. As resourceful ones they organized to fight the disease which, however, raged from June 21 to September 15, causing 200 deaths in the city and 116 in the Ohio State Penitentiary. The cholera returned in 1850 and, from July 10 to September 4, was accountable for 225 deaths in a population of 18,000, one fourth of whom fled and remained away until the epedemic abated. Christopher Tone was one who remained, organized to fight the disease, lost his battle and died.

bur. Walnut Grove Cemetery (53-1-17), Sharon Township, Franklin County, OH

com. On December 12, 1977 this author received a letter from The Walnut Grove Cemetery Association, P. O. Box 257, Worthington, OH stating: "Please be advised that the Walnut Grove Cemetery is still an active cemetery and is maintained. As for directions to the cemetery: Southbound on State Route 23 from State Route 161, the Cemetery Drive is three streets south of the fourth traffic light on Route 23. The Cemetery Drive is between Star Furniture and a small barber shop and thrift shop."

com. Christopher Tone's estate proceedings are filed in the Franklin County Probate Court being Case Number 2319. Philo Burr or Bun was appointed Administrator on September 17, 1850, thus he left no will. It appears that his estate inventory was in excess of $20,000.00 with less than $2,000.00 in personal property and the balance in real estate. A considerable amount for those times.

On October 6, 1843 Christopher Tone of Franklin County, OH loaned Augustus L. Case, of Delaware County, OH, the sum of $53.00 for which Christopher Tone received a mortgage from Case on 33 acres of land situated in Delaware County, Liberty Township, OH. The mortgage was recorded in Volume 25, Page 25 of Mortgages of the Delaware County, OH Records.

Christopher Tone and his wife, Aurelia Tone, of Franklin County, OH on August 17, 1844 sold 83 and 146/100 acres of land situated in Delaware County, OH to Josephus Collins for the sum of $1,000.00 said deed being recorded in Deed Book 25, Page 353, Delaware County, OH Records.

On the same day, August 17, 1844 Josephus Collins and his wife, Nancy Collins, gave six notes secured by a mortgage on the same 83 acres of land to Christopher Tone of Franklin County, OH in the amount of $1,000.00 plus interest. This mortgage is recorded in Volume 25, Page 353 of the Delaware County, OH Records.

The six notes securing the mortgage were to be paid as follows:

First Note in amount of $400.00 due August 19, 1844.
Second Note in amount of $250.00 payable in work by March 1, 1846.
Third Note in amount of $100.00 due March 1, 1847.
Fourth Note in amount of $100.00 due March 1, 1848.
Fifth Note in amount of $100.00 due March 1, 1849.
Sixth Note in amount of $100.00 due March 1, 1850.

The above six notes total $1050.00 so the additional $50.00 must have been the interest referred to in the mortgage.

The mortgage was paid and discharged on October 4th, 1851, after Christopher's death and the discharge was signed by George Tone, Christopher's son.

On October 25, 1845 Christopher Tone purchased 24 acres of land in Delaware County, OH from Benjamin Cole and his wife, Lucy Ann Cole, of Delaware County, OH for $1,600.00 as recorded in Volume 28 of Deeds, Page 339, Delaware County, OH Recorders Office.

8. *JOHN FREDERICK TONE

b. October 14, 1822 at Plainfield, New Hampshire

com. John Frederick Tone moved from New Hampshire to Worthington, Franklin County, OH where he was in the milling business. In 1856 he moved to Allen County, OH where he operated a grist mill on the Auglaize River about ten miles west of Lima, OH

o. Miller

com. He later moved to Delaware County, OH where, in 1845, he purchased a grist mill on beautiful Alum Creek, Orange Township. This spot is now the beautiful site of Ohio's Alum State Park. But again, in 1856, he returned to Allen County and his son, Albert Lyman Tone, purchased and operated the Alum Creek mill.

TONE GRIST MILL

"The first grist mill in Amanda Township, Allen County, Ohio was the TONE grist mill built by Charles Post, a millwright, in the years 1842-1843. It was located on the Auglaize River on what is now the Lima-Spencerville Road, State Route 117, and was called Armstrong Post Office. The mill was located on the northwest side of the present bridge and was operated by water power. In addition to the mill and post office, there was a sawmill, grocery store, blacksmith shop and the Baptist Church, which was established in 1866. So this was quite a shopping center in those early days and was only about four miles north of the Mack farm." (This account was taken from the MACK Genealogy which was compiled by George Mack Hydaker.)

Note: The Charles Post descendants still live nearby the grist mill site.

I certify, that on the 13th day of Sept., A.D. 1871 Albert L. Tone and Eddith Redd were, by me, legally joined in Marriage.

Signed: John W. Thompson"

RECEIVED AND RECORDED OCT. 1, 1871

Albert Lyman Tone and his family all lived in Liberty Township, Delaware County, Ohio and they worshipped at the Lewis Center Methodist Church. Albert's father, John Frederick Tone, taught him the milling business in Worthington, Ohio, later John moved to Delaware County, Ohio where he owned a gristmill on Alum Creek, Orange Township (now the beautiful site of Ohio's Alum State Park). When father John moved to Allen County in 1845, Albert purchased the grist mill. Albert had the reputation of being an honest as well as a good miller which accounted for the liberal patronage which was his. Although they lived in Orange Township, they shopped and worshipped in the small Lewis Center. Lewis Center in Delaware County, Ohio, had its railroad, general store, post office, church, elevator and provided the "meeting place" for all of the nearby husbands and wives to congregate on a Saturday night and then again on Sundays, after church, with their whole families when they would attend anniversaries, birthdays, bellings (when a young couple was married) and all other "get togethers". The women did the cooking and entertaining and the men discussed their "business" problems as well as the problems of the Township and County.

Knowing the respect that the early settlers had for learning, one of the first buildings to be constructed, after the church, was usually the one room school house. Some recollections of Mrs. James E. Taggart of Delaware County, Ohio of school life in those early days may be of interest. This would be the school house where Albert Lyman Tone and his brothers and sisters attended school.

THE LIBERTY TOWNSHIP SCHOOL HOUSE

"There was always a chapter from the Bible read by the teacher at the opening of school in the morning, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison, all pupils being expected to participate. As there were all ages from 6 to 18 represented, our teacher was busy all day hearing oral recitations and all studying was done against this background. However, we were accustomed to this, and our books usually stayed at school the entire term and we were not troubled by homework.

A bucket of water with a dipper in it sat in the entry and there we all slaked out thirst. Once during each of the four periods of the day some pupil was permitted to "pass the water". And when the supply became low two pupils were allowed to go to the source for a pail of water. This was considered quite a desirable chore, and sometimes was almost a "date" as a boy would ask to go for water and then select his favorite girl of the moment to go along. The two had to go some distance down the hill to the north and to the river's edge where there was a wonderful spring. When the river was in flood and the spring covered, then, even better they must go to the nearest neighbor's well and so were free from schools restraint for nearly twenty minutes. If the boy were very gallant he carried the water and did not allow the girl to help but usually it was a Katy Lee and Willie Gray act and the bucket swung between them. The teachers of that day were certainly kind and liberal minded in that they did not require the water to be carried during our play time.

All pupils brought lunches; tho some few had lunch boxes, the usual receptacle was a small tin bucket with a tight lid.

The games at the noon hour varied with the season. Ball games were usually in order both boys and girls playing. Blackman, prisoner's base, crack-the-whip, tap-the-rabbit and drop the handkerchief, each had its turn. When the grave yard had a new board fence with a flat board on top, we used to mount at the double gates and walk that fence entirely round to the gates again. We all went barefoot until we entered our teems, when the weather warranted. In winter we all wore high shoes and for snow we wore "artics" over them.

The covered bridge over the river was a favorite place for playing on a rainy day, and the deep dust, which was always there must have permeated our clothing to the despair of our mothers.

The hill in front of the hall was much steeper then and was ideal for coasting; while the river was loved for wading in summer and skating in winter. There was a thicket along the bottom field where we went for flowers in the spring and for long wild grape vines which we used for jumping rope. We also made trips up the run, past the stone quarry for flowers and pawpaws. Playing in the leaves was another pleasure for October days. We had no play equipment furnished us and we surely needed none. I still feel sorry for children who had no river, no covered bridge, no thicket and no big stony bottomed run near their school.

Again I say we had kind teachers, for it seems to me they let us wander far and wide, only requiring that we get back on time. When we were on the river skating, the bell would be rung five minutes early to give us time to get skates off and back up the hill on time. In my memory school was all sunshine with never a cloud, but others perhaps will not agree to that.

As the school sat in the same grove as the church, we sometimes found life complicated by the fact that we had to miss our recess for fear of disturbing a funeral service. If the deceased were anyone we knew, we could get permission to leave school and attend the funeral, but I do not remember that we abused that privilege. We often played in the graveyard, and we lost all the awe that some feel for such a spot. There was at least one tombstone topped by an open book and this afforded boys a place to stand and preach.

Where the hall now stands was then a sand pit, and from it sand was sold by the local grange. This pit was a fine place to play. The grange had possession of the small center room in the front of the schoolhouse which was kept locked, and how we wondered what mysterious things were stored within besides the goat. We took for granted there must be a goat to ride. The Grange built the hall and used it for some years, but finally disbanded, and the church acquired the building for a song.

The building of the brick schoolhouse was a time of jubilee for us; for we were in our last days in the frame building, and I'm sure the building of the hall must have been almost as exciting.

The 1913 flood destroyed the fine spring which had furnished water for so many years for the school.

When the winter ice broke up, if school was in session, our teachers would always dismiss us when the crash and grinding noise floated in telling us in the schoolroom that the ice was going out. We would stream out to the river bank and full of excitement watch the hugh cakes rise on end, and battle with each other in their race downstream.

In the summertime we picked and ate the wild gooseberries that grew on the river bank. They were covered with prickly spines, both the bushes and the fruit, but we ate them.

Several times a year the big boys would spend their noon hour on a trip to the cave, then a hole in the hillside on the first farm to the south, coming back with their clothes smirched with clay. Now that hole marks the Olentangy Caverns, its face lifted and with dry paths and electric lights and a beautiful picnic grounds adjoining.

During the winter the schoolhouse was used on Friday evenings for the Literary Society, where spirited debates took place with dialogs and recitations thrown in for variety. Music by the neighborhood string quartette and group singing were also added. These meetings gave the young people a glimpse of parliamentary law and added to our social life.

There was a cloakroom each side of the entry, one for girls and one for boys, where our coats and lunch boxes were kept. If we did not bring our lunch out near the stove in cold weather, we would have to eat a frozen lunch. Our wraps and hoods were cold to put on at the end of the day.

In approximately 1880 a "History of Delaware County" was written in which the following was said about Albert Lyman Tone:

> "A. L. TONE, Lewis Center: is a miller by trade, that having been the occupation of his father, John F. Tone, who was born in New Hampshire and who is now in Allen Co., this State, following the milling business; for a time he lived in Worthington, Franklin Co., where his son Albert was born in July, 1848. In 1871, Mr. Tone was married to Edith Redd, a daughter of Mrs. Redd, in this township. Mr. and Mrs. Tone have four children--John B., Albert L., Edna M. and an infant unnamed. They are both members of the M. E. Church. The mill now run by Mr. Tone is located on Alum Creek, in Orange Township, the first owner of which was a Mr. Nettleton, Mr. Lyster the second, Mr. Tone's father having been the third. Mr. Tone has the reputation of being honest, as well as a good miller, and this accounts for the liberal patronage that is his.
> The first mill in this township was a saw-mill, erected and owned by John Nettleton, about the year 1820, in the southeast part of the township Fifteen years later it was changed to a grist-mill, and at once became noted for the fine quality of its flour. In 1838, it was sold to one Lichter, from whom it came into the family of the present owner, A. L. Tone, in 1845. The same stones do duty now as of old, and they maintain, thanks to the present excellent miller, the old-time prestige of the mill. Later, a saw-mill was built further to the south, by Fancher, but it has long since passed away."

Continuing with Albert Lyman Tone account in the 1880 "History of Delaware County: "Here, perhaps, the story of the early settlements should properly close, and yet the historian is loath to part company with those who lived so near to nature's heart. They were plucked from homes of comfort and rudely transplanted in the wilderness. They drew from nature the comforts and adornments of a home, and decked their firesides with those social and domestic virtues, which so often force, from these later times, a sigh for the tender grace of a day that is dead! From the necessities of the situation, the hospitality of the early settlers was as spontaneous as it was generous, and they early became imbued with that spirit of philanthropy which Horace has embalmed in verse,--

'Non ignara mali, miseris succurrere disco.'

Every new-comer found a cordial welcome, and willing hands were ready to aid in rolling up a cabin. Neighborhoods for miles about were closely allied by early social customs which, in the spirit of true democracy, only inquired into the moral worth of their devotees. The lack of markets made food of the plainer sort abundant and cheap. Hospitality was dispensed with a lavish hand, and travelers were not only housed and fed without cost, but all possessing that touch of nature which makes the whole world kin, he was sent on his journey, bearing with him the kindly benedictions of his host and a heart-felt God speed. The very earliest times, however, were not marked with such generous profusion. The first settlers were often driven to the very verge of starvation and for years were forced to make long, wearisome journeys through an unbroken wilderness, over unbridged streams, frequently on foot, to procure the necessaries of life.

For a year, a Mr. McCumber's family lived almost entirely without meat of any kind. Game abounded, but there were no hunters in the family, and the demands of the clearing prevented the development of any possible latent talent in that direction. For weeks the family of a Mr. Norton depended solely upon bread made from Indian corn grated up; and all were forced to go as far as Circleville with wheat for flour. A Mr. Elsbre relates how his step-father and himself went out to Franklin County, thirteen miles east of Worthington, for the first meat they had. There they bought a hog, killed, dressed it, put it in bags and carried it on their shoulders home.

The difficulty the early settlers met with in acquiring stock can hardly be appreciated at this day. Sheep were unknown and horses were only less unfamiliar. Cattle and hogs were easily kept, so far as feeding was concerned, but another difficulty involved them. The woods abounded with wolves and bears."

In 1896 or 1897, along with fourteen other families from Delaware County, Albert Lyman Tone moved to Andrews, North Carolina for a warmer climate and for Albert's rheumatism. They built a home and a beautiful colony barn and settled their family. After living in Andrews, N. C. for about a year their Colony Barn - with all of their horses - was burned. The Civil War had only been over about a quarter of a century at that time and the southerners didn't want any "damn Yankees" living in the south.

So, Albert Lyman Tone and four other families moved to Blue Ridge, Georgia. Albert Lyman Tone, Sr. took his children Edna May, Essie Blanche, Ella Mary, Lawrence and Arthur Howard to Blue Ridge with him. After a year the family had built an eleven room home which is still standing. The three older boys, John Benjamin, Albert Lyman, Jr. and Harry moved back to Ohio. They were all railroaders and jobs were more plentiful.

A neighbor and friend wrote the following and had it published in the Blue Ridge, Georgia newspaper about "Grandma" Tone: "IN MEMORIAM OF MRS. A. L. TONE: Many years ago I heard a renowned preacher say that the only way to get ready for immortality is to love this life and live bravely, faithfully and cheerfully.

My neighbor (Mrs. A. L. Tone) must have loved this life, because she made her 79 years such beautiful years.

She was very fond of music and flowers. She loved little children and they returned her affection. Children of the neighborhood have often said to me, "Isn't Grandma Tone sweet". These little ones will never forget her, for on their youthful minds she made an impression for good that will continue with them throughout life.

My neighbor not only loved life but she lived it bravely and faithfully as well as cheerfully. The trials of life were met with great patience and fortitude. The smile and kind word came readily. Not once in many years have I heard a complaining or ill-natured word.

Surely my dear neighbor answered all the requirements spoken of by the great Divine and at 4 o'clock, August 31, she calmly laid aside all earthly interests and entered into the joys of immortality.

As I stood by her casket for a last look I said to myself, "She is not dead and almost could imagine her saying to me with the old, sweet smile--"Say not good night, but in some brighter clime, bid me good morning."

I would like to pass on to her devoted children the message left by another more than 200 years ago, but fully as comforting to the children of today. "I believe the grave unites, not separates, the loved of the earth. I will look down from yonder sky, watching and waiting for those I loved on earth; anxious in Heaven until, they too, are there; I will attend your guardian Angels' side and weep away your faults with Holy tears; your midnights shall be filled with solemn thoughts, and when, at length death brings you to my love, mine the first 'welcome' heard in Paradise." --A FRIEND.

CHILDREN OF ALBERT LYMAN TONE AND EDITH ELLEN REDD TONE

1. *JOHN BENJAMIN TONE

b. April 14, 1873 at Lewis Center, Delaware County, OH
o. Railroad Conductor - in 1893 he began working on the Toledo and Ohio Central Railroad as a Brakeman. In 1901 he was promoted to Conductor, which position he held until 1906 when he was permanently disabled. Although he was a cripple the rest of his life it only was noticeable in his limp.
com. He did not own an automobile so it was necessary for him to walk daily during the summer approximately one mile to his garden. Here he grew the vegetables that he was to feed his family with during the coming winter as well as the pop-corn which he would shuck, chaff and later his family would sell from their popcorn machine to pay for other necessities of life. He lived in downtown Sycamore, OH and on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, when the farmers would come to town, his wife, Flossie, would move the family popcorn machine onto the sidewalk and they would take their turns selling popcorn to the townfolk. As there was not too much to do but walk around the block and talk to the merchants and friends the Tone household became the meeting place where all would gather to discuss the events of the week. Any get-togethers on Wednesdays or Saturdays were common-place, but if one was to visit on Sunday it was sure to find its place in the pages of the weekly newspaper, The Sycamore Leader. Also, a member of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Independent Order of Foresters at Bucyrus, OH. He was a loving husband, kind father and a respected member of his community, Sycamore, OH.

Listed in: Community Leaders of America, National Social Register, Who's Who in the Midwest, Who's Who in America.

Comments by his wife, Mary: "Ken heads a household of four extremely different personalities, all of whom are constantly in a state of mild panic. When the family 'hits' Ken for advice he has only one way of giving it ...straight on. He is a very patient, methodical man whose success as an attorney and community leader is evidence of his compassion for his fellow man. His downfall...when he has one project three-quarters complete, he accepts two new responsibilities and'dreams up' two new projects."

m. Mary Elizabeth Zeitzheim on July 19, 1954 at Sandusky, OH

b. January 25, 1932 at Sandusky, OH, daughter of Harold Joseph & Alma (Windau) Zeitzheim educ. University of Dayton

o. Journalist & Feature Writer, Lorain (OH)Journal

com. Formerly Reporter, Teen Editor & Women's Editor, Sandusky (OH) Register; Teen Editor, Dayton (OH) Daily News; Women's News & Features, Fort Lauderdale (FL) Daily News; Women's Editor, Broward Bureau, Miami (FL) Herald.

Community Service: Chairman, Erie County United Fund Committee; Co-originator & first Co-Chairman, Erie County Heart Ball; Chairman, Erie County Heart Fund Drive; Member, Erie County Children Services Board; Member, Ohio Newspaperwomen's Association.

Listed in: National Social Register, Who's Who of American Women.

Comments by her husband, Ken: In addition to rearing two active, nice-but-exasperating, red-blooded, American children and managing a twenty six room home, she devotes time to the community. She performs all of this in her spare time while tackling her chief love....that of a working journalist and feature writer for the Lorain Journal Newspaper. This gives her the opportunity, now that the children are reared, to interview and write about people from all walks of life, in various vocations and avocations. Not one of us is fed at the dinner table until it is agreed that we have read Mom's article in the paper and that it is one of her best. How she's able to accomplish so much, with seemingly so little effort, is only Mary's secret.

b. March 6, 1959 at Broward County, FL educ. Sophomore (1978) at Bowling Green State University
com. Attending Bowling Green State University on a vocal music talent grant where her major is the performing arts. She gave her first concert at the age of three years while standing on a box in the back yard singing to the birds. She presently is a lyric soprano on her way to a coloratura. Bobbi has her eye on the European opera market. All through high school she maintained A-1 Superior ratings in the State of Ohio solo contests. In 1977, as a senior at Sandusky High School and a member of its a capella choir and prestigious SandusKeynotes, she appeared in the lead role of Laury in "Oklahoma." She has studied at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, MI and at Heidelberg College at Tiffin, OH. Invited, but declined, to make her debut with the Assembly at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City and was invited, but declined, to make her international debut with the Assembly in Vienna, Austria. Intends to transfer to either the Cincinnati Conservatory or the New England Conservatory of Music next year to continue her musical studies.

45. TYGH MATHEW TONE

b. June 29, 1961 at Sandusky, OH educ. Senior (1978) at Sandusky High School
com. Tygh, at 17, is a strapping six foot "leader of the troops" at his high school, as well as being social director of the football team. His "pad" on the lower level, which he inherited from his sister now sports the longest bar in the City of Sandusky. Any new beer sign which lights up, spins, flashes or sprays perfume is sure to find its place behind Tygh's bar. While writing this book it was not unusual for 30 or 40 kids to come in the back door and head for the basement saying "Is Tygh home" each knowing that he had been the one that had invited them and that he was, in fact, home. It has also been difficult writing this book with the music blaring loud enough to break the glass which holds my pencils. Nevertheless, he is extremely self-disciplined, kind, almost always has a big smile on his face and I have yet to hear him say an unkind word about anyone. He is sports editor of the school yearbook, played trumpet in the band and orchestra, is a member of the tennis team, a capella choir, SandusKeynotes and is known as the finest boater his age on Lake Erie. He prefers sailing but manages to endure, for at least 100 hours each summer, his father's power boat. Passed the Power Squadron course when he was 14 and keeps the boat, though not his "pad" immaculate. He has hopes of following his lawyer-father's footsteps or then maybe, "I'll be a ....well, I really don't know just yet." Easily recognized by his huge smile, firm handshake and friendly "Hi".

o. Owner of saw mill and handle factory at Spencerville, OH

The following is from the book, "History of Allen County - 1885", Warner, Beers, and Co., 1885:

"GEORGE H. KEPHART, proprietor of saw mill and handle factory at Spencerville, was born in Amanda Township, Allen Co., Ohio, October 31, 1846; son of Ormond and Ann A (Hayes) Kephart, the former of whom, an influential farmer and early settler of this county, died in 1856; the latter, a native of New York, still survives him, the mother of five children: Cordelia, Oscar M., Alexis E., Ormond, and George H. Our subject graduated in the scientific course at Lebabon, Ohio, in 1869, and entered upon his career in life as a teacher, but eventually embarked in the lumbering business. He commenced a poor boy, and by energy and perseverance has accumulated property. He first entered a saw-mill in 1875, and two years later came to Spencerville, In 1880 he purchased a woolen-mill and for a while also operated it, and in connection with the same started a handle factory, which he still runs, but has traded the woolen machinery for land in Mississippi. Mr. Kephart was united in marriage, September 18, 1870, with Ellen A. Tone of Allen County, formerly of Delaware County, Ohio, and by her has had three children: Clarence E., Albert N. (deceased) and Myrtle May. Mr. Kephart is a Republican in politics and has served as mayor one term. He is a F. & A. M.; a member of the Baptist Church."

This book traces the ascendants of Emma Persa Tone to John F. Tone, a soldier who served in the Revolutionary War. However, Emma's husband, Jacob Bacom Sunderland could also trace his ascendants to Peter Sunderland, a soldier who served in the Revolutionary War. This is quite unusual. For this reason a short synopsis follows concerning the SUNDERLAND FAMILY, and PETER SUNDERLAND who fought in and was badly wounded in the Battle of Bunker Hill.

THE BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL

Bunker Hill is the name of a small hill in Charlestown, Boston, Massachusetts, famous as the scene of the first considerable engagement June 17, 1775, in the American Revolution. Bunker Hill (110 feet elevation) was connected by a ridge with Breed's Hill (75 feet elevation), both being on a narrow peninsula a short distance to the north of Boston, joined by a causeway with the mainland. Since the affair of Lexington (April 19, 1775) General Gage, who commanded the British forces, had remained inactive at Boston awaiting reinforcements from England. The headquarters of the Americans were at Cambridge, with advanced posts occupying much of the 4 miles separating Cambridge from Bunker Hill. When Gage received his reinforcements at the end of May, he determined to repair his strange neglect by which the hills on the peninsula had been allowed to remain unoccupied and unfortified. As soon as the Americans became aware of Gage's intention they determined to frustrate it, and accordingly, on the night of June 16th, a force of about 1,200 men, under Colonel William Prescott and Major General Israel Putnam, with some engineers and a few field-guns, occupied Breed's Hill (to which the name Bunker Hill is itself now popularly applied). When daylight disclosed their presence to the British they had already strongly entrenched their position. Gage lost no time in sending troops across from Boston with orders to assault. The British force, between 2,000 and 3,000 strong, under (Sir) William Howe, supported by artillery and by the guns of men-of-war and bloating batteries stationed in the anchorage on either side of the peninsula, were fresh and well disciplined. The American force consisted for the most part of inexperienced volunteers, numbering about 1,500 men. The village of Charlestown, from which a galling musketry fire was directed against the British, was by General Howe's orders almost totally destroyed by hot shot during the attack. Instead of attempting to cut off the Americans by occupying the neck to the rear of their position, Gage ordered the advance to be made up the steep and difficult ascent facing the works on the hill. Whether or not in obedience (as tradition asserts) to an order to reserve fire until they could see the whites of their assailants' eyes, the American volunteers with admirable steadiness waited till the attack was on the point of being driven home, when they delivered a fire so sustained and deadly that the British line broke in disorder. A second assault, made like the first, with the precision and discipline of the parade-ground met the same fate, but Gage's troops had still spirit enough for a third assault, and this time they carried the position with the bayonet, capturing five pieces of ordnance and putting the enemy to flight. The loss of the British was 1,054 men killed and wounded, among whom were 89 commissioned officers; while the American casualties amounted to 420 killed and wounded, including General Joseph Warren, and 30 prisoners.

The significance of the battle of Bunker Hill is not, however, to be gauged by the losses on either side, heavy as they were in proportion to the numbers engaged, nor by its purely military results, but by its moral effect. "It roused at once the fierce instinct of combat in America . . . . and dispelled . . . . the almost superstitious belief in the impossibility of encountering regular troops with hastily levied volunteers . . . . No one questioned the conspicuous gallantry with which the provincial troops had supported a long fire from the ships and awaited the charge of the enemy, and British soldiers had been twice driven back in disorder before their fire." The pride which Americans naturally felt in such an achievement, and the self-confidence which it inspired, were increased when they learnt that the small force on Bunker Hill had not been properly reinforced, and that their ammunition was running short before they were dislodged from their position. Had the character of the fighting on that day been other than it was; had the American volunteers been easily, and at the first assault, driven from their fortified position by the troops of George III., it is not impossible that the resistance to the British Government would have died out in the North American colonies through lack of confidence in their own power on the part of the colonists. Bunker Hill, whatever it may have to teach the student of war, taught the American colonists in 1775 that the odds against them in the enterprise in which they had embarked were not so overwhelming as to deny them all prospect of ultimate success.

Peter Sunderland fought at the Battle of Bunker Hill. By the time the British had made the third charge up the grade the powder in the fort had become exhausted and the Americans were obliged to fight with gunstocks, clubs and stones. Sunderland picked up three guns to find that each of them had been discharged and raised the fourth when a British soldier struck at his neck. A quick turn of the gun caused the edge of the sword to strike at his mouth, cutting through Sunderland's abdomen; but at the same time the "fourth gun", which proved to be loaded, was discharged into the enemy and the bayonet on the gun thrust through him, killing him instantly. The fate of this man seemed to check the other soldiers a moment, at least Sunderland, who was the last man to leave the fortification, escaped to the swamps below where he found a man, woman and babe. Sunderland bound a large hankerchief about his abdomen and the woman and the two men swam across the pond but the babe had to be pitched from one to the other at deep places.

On the opposite shore Sunderland lay concealed in the bush for three days steadily growing weaker. His comrades came back daily to search for the wounded but he could not make them hear. He probably could not holler and might have been afraid to make a loud noise even if he could. On the third day, by breaking some sticks, he was heard.

He came to Ohio about 1817 and entered land near Dayton. Soon after this he came to Fort Amanda where his son, Dye Sunderland entered land that is still owned by the Sunderlands.

Peter Sunderland, the Revolutionary soldier, and his wife are both buried at Fort Amanda, where a monument marks their resting place. So the last man to leave the trenches at Bunker Hill lies buried in Auglaize County, OH.

The proof of Peter Sunderland's Revolutionary military record is found in the "Official Register of Officers' and Men of New Jersey in the Revolutionary War", page 868. In this Register, Peter Sunderland is listed as a teamster in Captain Tunis Middleworth's Brigade.

PIONEER RECOLLECTIONS

By James Sunderland
of Amanda Township, Allen County, Ohio
-1895-

My father, Dye Sunderland, moved from Montgomery County, Ohio to Fort Amanda in the early part of 1821 and settled on what is now part of the farm owned by me in Amanda Township of this county. At that time there were but three other white families living in that vicinity: Andrew Russell, who had moved there in 1817, Henry Harter and a Mr. Underwood, who was a silversmith and manufactured jewelry for the Indians, and traded for their furs. Father had, previous to moving his family, made a trip to Fort Amanda in the latter part of 1820, and while there had located the 86 acres of land upon which he settled, not entering more at the time because he was afraid the country might not suit him. At the time of locating this land he also contracted with Henry Harter and a half-breed named Bazeel to build him a log cabin and have it ready for occupancy when he should arrive with his family. Father, however, fearing the roads would become bad, started earlier than he at first had intended and reached Fort Amanda with his wife and four children February 14, 1821, and finding his house far from being completed, and unable to rent another, was compelled in mid winter to go to work and finish it. This cabin was similar to all built by the early settlers. The roof was of clap boards held in place by a sapling laid on each course of boards.

The floor was made of puncheons, or plank split from trees. The door was made of boards rived out and had wooden hinges and latch. The fireplace and chimney were also made of wood and well daubed with mud. The windows were small apertures in the wall, covered with oil paper. Taken altogether it was a rather primitive house but one in which our family lived very comfortably and happily for many years. There were two acres of ground on our farm which had been cleared by the Indians and on which they had raised corn. To these two acres father cleared a few more and raised a fine crop of corn that year, and becoming well pleased with the country he entered another tract of land that fall, which is also part of the farm owned by me. Two or three years after father arrived, his father, Peter Sunderland, who had been a Revolutionary soldier who had fought and been badly wounded at Bunker Hill, also moved out from Montgomery County, and made his home with us until his death in 1827 at the age of 90 years. He lies in the cemetery at Fort Amanda. At the time of my birth in 1827 and for many years afterwards, the Indians were numerous in our neighborhood. They were, as a rule, very friendly and frequently assisted us at our work. There is still a log cabin standing on my place which they assisted in raising. Although father had to turn his stock loose in the woods he never had any stolen and several times when his horses and cattle started back for Montgomery County, the Indians stopped them and returned them. My life was once saved by an Indian by the name of Big Knife. Mother was washing in an outhouse having a fireplace, the dirt of which had become worn down so as to form a hole in which I was playing. The firelog supporting the kettle of water, burned away and spilled the water into the hole. I, no doubt, would have been scalded to death but for Big Knife's presence. He snatched me up just in time to save me. I well remember this circumstance as I was very badly scared for I was always very much afraid of the Indians and thought I was surely going to be killed when caught up by Big Knife. Occasionally drunken Indians would cause us some bother. I recollect mother knocking one down in our house with an iron poker for attempting to take a skein of sewing thread from her. Upon being helped to his feet and out of the house by his companion, he turned and said, "You good squaw; no coward". My father once also had an encounter with some Indians on a return trip from Dayton, Ohio. He was stopped near the site of the town of Buckland by Chief Whitefeather and a band of his men. Part of father's load consisted of whiskey, which the Indians were very anxious to get and they tried very hard to scare him into letting them have it. It was only after he had badly wounded one with a club that they let him proceed. There was an Indian burying ground on our place which we plowed up after the Indians left the country bringing to the surface old gun barrels, old knives, brass kettles, silver jewelry and many other articles that had been placed in the graves. Hunting was good sport during my childhood, there being plenty of deer, bear, turkeys, wild hogs, wolves and squirrels we had by the thousands. The finest fish could be caught in the Auglaize River - sturgeon seven and a half feet long at one time and pike five feet long were frequently caught. Our schools were on the subscription plan and the first school I went to was built the same as the log cabins of the settlers. Pegs driven into holes in the wall supported planks for desks, and the seats were puncheons with wooden legs. For many years we had no churches but held divine service in the cabins of the settlers, or in case of big meetings, in the barn of some neighbor who was fortunate enough to have a barn bigger than his house. Our nearest points of supply were Piqua and Dayton. Father went principally to Dayton for a number of years after settling here. He generally went twice a year, -once in the fall and once in the spring. One of the articles always bought in the fall was leather, our shoes being made by the neighboring shoemaker, who would go from house to house, boarding at each place until he had completed shoes for the entire family. One pair of shoes generally had to last us one year. Occasionally, however, moccasins were worn. I recollect going to Dayton in 1837, when ten years old, with my cousin, Frank, for milling and supplies. There was then but one white family living between Fort Amanda and Wapakoneta, old Peter Amile, who lived about one mile north of that place. I remember of stopping at Wapakoneta and buying gingerbread at a bakery kept by John Keller. On the other side of Wapakoneta there was no settlement until we came to a town of colored people on Loramie Creek called Rumley. While going to Dayton we slept in the wagon at night but on the return trip we were so loaded that we slept under it. Old Johnnie Cole, of Lima, came back with us as far as Wapakoneta. In his load was a barrel of cider, of which he kept us well supplied during the entire trip. I recollect that we had a barrel of Kanawha salt on our load which cost us four dollars in Dayton. It was then considered a good day's drive to go from Wapakoneta to Fort Amanda. We occasionally received supplies from traders who would come up the river from Defiance in flat boats and pirogues, the Auglaize River then being navigable as far as Wapakoneta. The Miami and Erie Canal opened in the forties and gave us our first outlet for timber and grain. We then thought nothing better could ever be built, or would be wanted, than the canal. Trusting that these few sketches will revive in the minds of the pioneers present the scenes and events of other days and that I have given to the younger generation here some idea of the life led by the early settlers of our county, I will now close.

OF PARTICULAR NOTE IN THIS CHAPTER

1. The Ohio State Historical Society erected a historical marker on the homestead of Dye Sunderland. The marker reads: "SITE OF THE 86 ACRE HOMESTEAD OF DYE SUNDERLAND WHO SERVED IN CAPTAIN SAMUEL McCORMICK'S COMPANY OF THE WAR OF 1812. HERE IN 1820 ON THE SITE OF THE INDIAN TOWN OF TAWA THE SUNDERLAND FAMILY ESTABLISHED THE FIRST PERMANENT HOME IN ALLEN COUNTY, OHIO. ERECTED BY THE JACOB STEMPLE CHAPTER, UNITED STATES DAUGHTERS OF 1812."

2. The Spencerville, Ohio Journal-News of October 30, 1975 carried a picture of seven sisters with the following caption: "Pictured above are the seven ladies who have set a national record for the Lima Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The seven - all sisters - are the largest group of sisters to have membership in any D. A. R. chapter in the United States. In the picture are Mrs. Jay (Helen) John ((Number 16 in this chapter)), Mrs. Charles (Elizabeth) Fritz ((12)), Mrs. Donald (Ruth) Furry ((17)), Mrs. Robert C. (Martha) Miller ((20)), Mrs. Harry D. (Mary) Montague ((15)), Mrs. S. F. (Dorothy) Dickman ((13)) and Miss Emma Sunderland ((14))."

The seven sisters joined the D. A. R. in 1973. A similar story and picture appeared in the November 1975 issue of the Daughters of the American Revolution magazine.

Of course, these seven sisters could also qualify for membership on the merits of the Revolutionary War Service Record of John Frederic Tone as well as Peter Sunderland, which would most certainly set another national D. A. R. record.

com. James comments: "In 1938-39 I worked all over Ohio stringing electric lines with the Rural Electrification Project; was signed to play professional baseball with the Sinclair Oilers at Sinclair, Wyoming, playing in a state tournament in Cheyenne, Wyoming. In October 1939 I returned to my job with the R.E.A. until I entered the service on November 2, 1942. I served in the U. S. Army during WW II serving overseas from April 1943 until November 1945; was seriously wounded in Africa in 1943 which necessitated two spinal fusion operations both of which were unsuccessful. Shortly after the war I entered the Toledo Barber College where I was graduated in March 1947. Barbered until 1960, except for a short time that I was in the restaurant business. Due to my war injuries and an auto injury 'in which I was given up for dead' I was placed on permanent disability in 1961. The most important event in my life was in August 1958 when I became a Born Again Christian and I have the promise of having eternal life with my God"

com. Comments by John "Jack" Ratkay - #63 ff., son of Michael Ratkay: "Joseph Ratkay, father of Michael Ratkay, came to America from the town of Ribnik which was then in Austria, now Croatia in Yugoslavia. He was about 14, came with a friend and eventually made his way to Butler County, Pennsylvania. Got a job in a lime mine, saved his money and sent for his girlfriend. Her name was Frances Bompage, the daughter of a man who worked in a stone quarry. She could not read or write her own language and had great difficulty with English. She was the typical woman of the immigrants, a hard worker, religious, and full time mother, usually pregnant! She mothered 9 children, 7 of them lived to adulthood. Together they bought six acres of land with a natural spring, planted a garden and fruit trees. They built a two story frame house themselves, with a wine and beer cellar where they lived and died. Both were about 79 years of age at death. It's refreshing to know one come's from such industrious, disciplined and hardy stock. Those people would never understand those of us who demand the government to take care of us with the multitude of handouts. We even demand retirement benefits as something the government must do for us. Joseph was fired two years from his retirement date so he could not receive any compensation. However, he saved enough money raising 7-9 kids and went through several depressions and lived on the dividends on the Blue Chip stocks he bought during his lifetime. THAT'S WHAT AMERICA IS ALL ABOUT! He taught himself to read and write English before his girlfriend arrived in America. I've been told he didn't even have an accent in English even though all of his community spoke the native language even at the time of his death."

com. Comments by her husband, "Jack" Ratkay: "Donna, my wife, is a highly intelligent, organized wife and mother who went to college on an academic scholarship but was swept off her feet by a dashing Jet Pilot who convinced her it was more fun to put him through college instead of becoming the Trial Lawyer she was going to be. She is the daughter of the Halsey's and Rockwell's. The Halsey's include many doctors, entrepreneurs and military men. Most of the immediate family is now in California by way of Alabama. Her mother was the daughter of a Rockwell twin whose family came to Los Angeles by way of covered wagon in 1845. They arrived in Los Angeles when the population was under 5,000 people. Unfortunately, they didn't buy land in anticipation of the 7 million who were to flood the area later, which turned out to be the perfect squelch of my ambition to marry the princess of the King of California. But alas, she is the daughter of a man who was a vice-president with the Bank of America."

   com. Vern was 26 years old when his wife died and he was left to rear four daughters. Soon after his wife died he moved to Sand Springs, OK, then to Shamrock, OK and finally to Pryor, OK to live with his parents and brother, George. His mother cared for his four daughters. Vern, after his wife died, was extremely stern with his four daughters...occasionally too stern. When he owned the ice plant he often had his daughters "pull ice" for him when they were teenagers. In about 1931 he bought an 80 acre farm in Pryor, OK where he lived until his death in 1942. He died at the age of 54 after suffering many many years with cancer of the throat. His granddaughter, Virginia Ferris Alfano remembers "my fondest childhood memories take me back to that farm where we used to spend our summer vacations each year". He loved sports, hunting and music; could play the violin and had a good voice.

d. February 25, 1960 at Graham, TX
com. Was working a few miles east of Graham, TX and he was a man who tried to do everything even though he had men working under him. He was getting an old motor started and ran inside to do something to keep the motor running. It was an icy February morning and he slipped on some ice at the door. He slid under some pipes and hit his head and knee quite hard. A pain in his chest became so severe that one of the workers started to town with him. He died on the way in with a coronary attack. Chuck and his brother Howard were very close to each other. There was 22 months difference in their ages but they were like twins. Never a day passed that they didn't meet for coffee or just say hello. Howard was the serious one and Chuck was the tease. One never knew when he was telling the truth or kidding.

OBITUARY OF CATHERINE MARTIN TONE

Catherine Martin Tone was born in Amanda Township, near Tone's Mill, Allen County, Ohio, June 29th, 1864.

She died at Sulphur, Oklahoma, January 24th, 1917, aged 52 years, 6 months, and 25 days.

She was united in marriage to William F. Tone, January 1st,1890. To this union was born one child, Captola Tone, who died at the age of six weeks.

She leaves to mourn her, a husband, three brothers, and one sister, and a host of friends.

She was of an amiable and Christian disposition, and made friends wherever she went, and was dearly loved by those that were intimately acquainted with her, and was ever ready to lend a helping hand to the needy.

She was brought here by her husband and buried in Maple Wood Cemetery, within one-half mile of where she was born.

She belonged to one of the old pioneer families. Archeleus Martin, a school teacher in the early days, was her Grandfather.

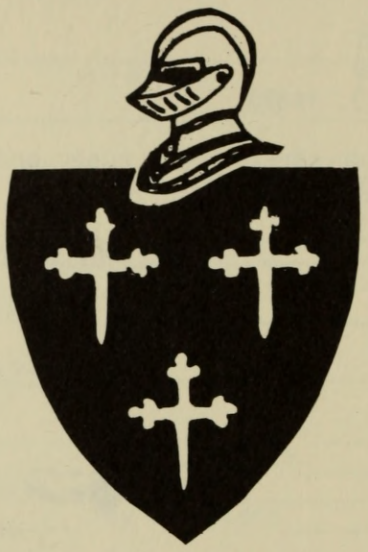
EPILOGUE



WHEN YOU GOT IT FROM YOUR FAMILY,
IT WAS ALL THEY HAD TO GIVE.

IT'S YOURS TO USE AND CHERISH,
FOR AS LONG AS YOU MAY LIVE.

IF YOU LOSE THE WATCH THEY GAVE YOU,
IT CAN ALWAYS BE REPLACED...

BUT A BLACK MARK ON YOUR NAME, CHILD, CAN NEVER BE ERASED.

IT WAS CLEAN THE DAY YOU TOOK IT,
AND A WORTHY NAME TO BEAR;

WHEN YOU GOT IT FROM YOUR FAMILY,
THERE WAS NO DISHONOR THERE.

SO BE SURE TO GUARD IT WISELY,
FOR WHEN ALL IS SAID AND DONE;

YOU'LL BE GLAD YOU'VE KEPT IT SPOTLESS
WHEN YOU NAME YOUR DAUGHTER OR SON.
